TWO INJURED WHEN POWER BOAT BURNS OFF SIDNEY ISLAND

J. Briggs and A. Griffin Being Treated in Hospital For Burns to Head and Arms—Four Men Rescued by Ss. Grainer—Craft Believed to Be Total Loss

FOUR young Victorians had narrow escapes last evening when the forty-five-foot gasboat Tye, in which they were proceeding on a hunting expedition, burst into flames off Sidney Island when the engine backfired.

J. Briggs, who was in the engine-room at the time of the explosion, was seriously burned about the head and arms, and A. Griffin, who assisted him through the narrow opening to the deck also received burns about the face and forearms.

The hunting party consisted of J. Briggs, A. Briggs, A. Griffin and A. Anderson, as well as a dog, which was trapped in the blazing forecastle until J. Briggs, released it while the others prepared to abandon the blazing craft in the dinghy which was in tow behind the Tye.

NO WORD OF POLAR PLANE

Signals Heard by Cruiser Prove to Have Come From Supply Ship

NEW YORK, Nov. 27 (AP).—Signals picked up by the cruiser Dunedin at Pictou Sound, N.Z., were sent out by the supply ship, Wyatt Earp, and not by the plane of Lincoln Ellsworth, the explorer, who has been missing in Antarctica since last Saturday, The New York Times and the North American Newspaper Alliance said tonight.

The letters picked up, KHNIR, were the Ellsworth plane's call letters and not its signature. AT DECEPTION BAY The Wyatt Earp moved from Dundee Island, from which Ellsworth and his Winnipeg pilot, H. Hollick-Kenyon, departed last Saturday to be enveloped by a veil of silence, and arrived at Deception Bay today.

The message from the Antarctic tonight pointed out that the hour at which the plane's call letters, KHNIR, were heard aboard the warship was during the time set for Ellsworth to broadcast.

WARSHIP REPORTS WELLINGTON, N.Z., Nov. 28 (AP).—H. M. S. Dundee reported today it had heard signals from the plane of Lincoln Ellsworth and Herbert Hollick-Kenyon, missing Antarctic flyers. The signals were heard at 12:30 a.m., Thursday, New Zealand time (4:30 a.m., Wednesday, P.S.T.). The signals were described as "weakest" and "unreadable," but the call signal KHNIR was heard several times.

A continuous watch was ordered kept at all New Zealand wireless stations. PROBLEMS CAN ALL BE SOLVED Sir Edward Beatty Envisages New Era of Promise and Hope

THOROLD, Ont., Nov. 27.—Three outstanding problems face the Canadian people, according to Sir Edward Beatty, chairman and president Canadian Pacific Railway, who addressed the Board of Trade here tonight.

They are the unbalanced budget, the enormous increase in the national debt, and the existence of "bankers" on the body economic in the shape of inescapable obligations. All of these, he said, were of domestic character, and all capable of cure.

Labor Party Wins Sweeping Victory In New Zealand

National Government Defeated and Two Small Parties Wiped Out Completely—Three Cabinet Ministers Lose Seats—Proposals for Prohibition Rejected by Wide Margin

WELLINGTON, N.Z., Nov. 28 (CP, via Reuter's).—New Zealand today embarked on a new political voyage with the return to power by a sweeping majority of the first Labor Government in the history of the Island Dominion.

Michael J. Savage, Australian-born leader of the Labor party, will command fifty-two out of eighty seats in the next House of Representatives. Yesterday's general election saw the defeat of Prime Minister G. W. Forbes' National Government, which has held office since the financial crisis of September, 1931.

Prime Minister Forbes and Finance Minister J. G. Coates survived the avalanche, but three of their colleagues went down to defeat. The strength of the National Government groups in the House of Representatives was reduced from forty-six to twenty.

TWO PARTIES ELIMINATED The Democratic party, an uncertain quantity throughout the campaign, was annihilated, losing the two seats it held at dissolution and gaining none. Formed only recently, it had confused all forecasts of the result.

The Country party was also eliminated. Continued on Page 2, Column 3

JUNEAU, Alaska, Nov. 27 (AP).—An earth slide, caused by heavy rains, moved three houses from their foundations today and left one overhanging a hilltop.

Fearing further slides, city authorities ordered occupants in houses below the hill to vacate.

No one was injured, as persons living in the houses were warned by slight earth movements before the main slide started.

Thousand Dollars in Cash Taken by Gunmen—Employees and Customer Forced to Lie Down While Money Drawer Was Being Rifled

VANCOUVER, Nov. 27 (CP).—A close watch was ordered on all outgoing ships and trains tonight as police started an intensive search through Vancouver underworld haunts for two gunmen who held up two employees and a customer in a Granville Street branch of the Imperial Bank of Canada and escaped with $1,000 in cash shortly after noon today.

Police believe the robbers, who escaped in a stolen car, are hiding in the city, waiting an opportunity for a dash eastward or across the international boundary.

CONFERENCE IN AIR OF ENMITY

Attempt Vain to Seek Solution of Mongolia-Manchukuo Parley

TOKIO, Nov. 27 (AP).—Japanese sources reported today that a Mongolia-Manchukuo conference, seeking solution of a border incident, ended in an atmosphere of hostility.

The Outer Mongolians were advised by Soviet Russians, and the Manchukuan by Japanese.

A dispatch to the Rengo News Agency, from Hankow, said the conference, in session at Manchukuo since June 4, failed because of the Mongols' refusal to accept a Manchukuan proposal for the exchange of diplomatic agents.

REGION OF DANGER As a result the Manchukuan Foreign Office was reported as saying Hsinking will regard all Outer Mongolians as a region of danger and mystery abutting on her frontiers and reserves the right to take the full initiative in the settlement of pending or future issues with that nation.

The conferees attempted to settle the "Kharka incident," an armed clash between Mongol and Japanese-Manchukuan troops on the frontier near Lake Bor Nor last January.

(Since that time there have been frequent border incidents between Soviets and Japanese-Manchukuan. Moscow recently made a vigorous protest, which Japan rejected.)

Working without pay for a year, the twenty-one teachers on the mining town staff are owed more than $15,000.

CIVIC HEADS SUSPENDED

Vancouver's Clerk, Auditor And Comptroller Wait Outcome of Investigation

VANCOUVER, Nov. 27 (CP).—Mayor G. G. McGeer late today suspended City Comptroller Walter Wardhaugh, City Clerk W. L. Woodford and City Internal Auditor Frank Stead pending an investigation to open Friday morning under a civic committee.

The committee will consist of Mayor McGeer and Aldermen A. G. Harvey and C. E. Tisdall. The investigation was ordered by the city council at the Mayor's suggestion following presentation of eight affidavits to the council by W. A. Tucker of the city internal audit department this afternoon.

DEPARTMENT CRITICIZED Earlier in the afternoon the city's internal audit department was criticized by Mayor McGeer when reports of investigations into the relief department were under consideration by the city council.

"The waste and inefficiency in the relief department alleged by Mr. Tucker of the internal audit department in his report is due in a large manner to the internal audit department itself," said the Mayor. Seven of the affidavits were made by Tucker and the other by Mary E. Deives, former stenographer in the city relief office.

May Allow Beer Sales In Hotels

SAINT JOHN, N.B., Nov. 27 (CP).—The first hint from an official source that the New Brunswick Government is considering the advisability of permitting the sale of beer and wine in hotels came tonight from Premier Dymally in an address at a dinner here. "Hotel accommodations throughout the province must be improved," he said with reference to building up the tourist industry, "and it may be the part of wisdom to enable these hostilities to extend their services so as to include certain features to which American travelers have become accustomed at home, following a prolonged national drought."

HERRIOT COMES TO LAVAL'S AID

Danger of French Political Crisis Averted by Action of Former Premier

PARIS, Nov. 27 (CP-Havas).—Former Premier Edouard Herriot tonight threw the weight of his personal influence to the defence of the Laval Government and won a conciliatory attitude from his Radical-Socialist party which was expected to aid Premier Laval in the Chamber of Deputies tomorrow.

In a momentous three-hour session of the Radical-Socialists, Herriot asserted that a crisis in France at present would place French Democracy in grave danger.

RESOLUTION ADOPTED The meeting adopted unanimously a resolution requesting softening of the Laval decree laws affecting low-salaried officials, and passage of a law prohibiting arms purchases by French citizens.

As a result only the Socialists and Communists, with a few Radical-Socialist extremists, are expected to oppose the Cabinet when the Chamber session begins.

Moves for Abolition Of Senate

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, Nov. 27 (CP cable via Reuters).—Eamon de Valera, President of the Irish Free State, made a new move tonight for abolition of the Senate. He tabled a motion in the Dail Eireann resolving that the bill known as "Constitution Amendment No. 24" be sent to the Senate. The Dail will consider it on December 5.

The bill in question proposes to abolish the Senate. It has been held up for eighteen months following its rejection by the Senate. Under the Constitution, after eighteen months the Government is empowered to send a defeated bill to the Senate again. If the Upper House again rejects it, it can nevertheless become law within sixty days.

CREW RESCUED BY FREIGHTER

Italian Ship Takes Six Men Off Schooner in Distress

NEW YORK, Nov. 27 (AP).—The master and five of the crew of the British two-masted schooner R. L. Borden were rescued by the Italian freighter San Pedro about 610 miles east-southeast of New York late today, it was reported in a message from the San Pedro tonight.

The message was picked up by Mackay Radio.

The R. L. Borden sailed from New York on November 13 for Grand Banks, Nfld., and is believed to have been driven off her course by a storm.

DISTRESS FLARES SEEN At the time of the rescue, the schooner was near the place from which the Ss. Exilona wireless she had seen flares sent up, indicating a vessel was in distress.

The message from the San Pedro said: "Five p.m. Position latitude 39:22 north, longitude 62:15 west. Rescued crew six persons of two-masted schooner R. L. Borden, of St. John's, Nfld. (Signed) Master, San Pedro."

ADDIS ABABA, Nov. 27.—It was reported on good authority here tonight that the Ethiopian military command was planning a dual drive against the Italian troops on the northern and southern fronts.

More than 50,000 men were mustered on the southern front anxious to drive out of Ogaden Province entirely the Italian forces now reported retreating in that region.

Reinforcements and medical units were being dispatched towards Harar and Jijiga. FORCES GATHERING In the north, a force estimated at more than 80,000, was assembling in the mountains to thrust back the

Chinese Report Taking Over of Airport and Molesting of American Pilot—Deny Justification For Seizure of Northern Railway System by Seizure of Key Centres

Governor of Hopeh Admits Inability to Stop Autonomy

SHANGHAI, Nov. 28.—Chinese reports from Tientsin today said Japanese military authorities took over an airport there of the China National Aviation Corporation—in which Pan-American Airways is interested—and molested an American pilot arriving with a plane from Shanghai. Officials of the corporation said they had "no information" of the reports that Japanese interference in North China communications had been extended to airways.

As Japanese troops streamed into North China in apparent support of the autonomy movement there, a Chinese spokesman of the Nanking Government denied the validity of the Japanese reason for virtual seizure of the Northern railway system.

NOTHING UNUSUAL There have been no unusual Chinese military preparations in Northern Honan Province, the spokesman insisted, despite Japanese assertions of Chinese action.

Hongkong newspaper published a manifesto today allegedly issued by Chinese Communist leaders offering co-operation of the Chinese Red army if the Nanking Government will fight Japan.

Control of key railroad centres in North China was seized yesterday by the Japanese. Troop trains bearing 3,000 Japanese soldiers and equipment reached Tientsin. At Peiping the garrison has been more than doubled in the past twenty-four hours.

Colonel Takahashi, Japanese military attaché in Peiping, said the Peiping railway junction east of there was seized because of rumors that

MANY RECOUNTS MAY BE ASKED

Quebec Opposition Parties Plan to Contest Results In Seven Ridings

MONTREAL, Nov. 27 (CP).—Headquarters of the Duplessis-Gouin parties which reduced Premier Taschereau's Liberal Government majority to six in Monday's Provincial election, announced today legal steps were being taken for judicial recounts of ballots in four constituencies—Pointe St. Charles, Drummond and Armand.

Previously party headquarters stated they would contest the results in three Montreal seats—Mercier, St. Lawrence, and St. Louis in which they claimed the acclamation given Peter Bercovitch was irregular.

GRANTS RECOUNT Chief Justice R. A. E. Green-shield granted application for a judicial recount in Montreal St. James, in which constituency Minister of Colonization Vautrin was beaten by fourteen votes by Ald. Henry L. Auger, Conservative. The Liberals also planned to contest the election of Paul Gouin, Action Libérale Nationale leader, in L'Assomption, where he lost out the Liberal, Walter Reed, by sixty-two votes.

Should the Opposition's alliance of Conservatives and Action Libérale Nationale be able to upset the election of three or more Government candidates through recounts, while not losing any themselves by the same means, the Government's majority in the next Legislature would be swept aside.

SYDNEY, N.S., Nov. 27 (CP).—Sixty persons were left homeless tonight after fire raced through the McDonald block on Charlotte Street, causing damage estimated at $50,000.

Arthur Fraser barely escaped from the flaming structure with his wife and two children.

Her escape cut off by fire and smoke, Mrs. A. Smith jumped from a second-story window with her baby in her arms. She was badly shaken up but not seriously hurt. The infant escaped injury.

All other occupants, many in night attire, escaped without mishap but few saved any of their belongings.

Unfair Statements in Bulletin Admitted by Its Author at Inquiry

Admonished by Chief Justice to Get His Facts Right—Leader of On-To-Ottawa Trek Subjected to Questioning in Detail

REGINA, Nov. 27 (U.P.).—Errors of fact and unfairness in statements in a bulletin dealing with the Regina Dominion Day riot inquiry were admitted today by William J. Hammell, youthful trekker, who said he "drew up" the bulletin himself as a member of the publicity committee of the Regina citizens' defence committee.

Hammell, called before the inquiry on instruction from the commission, was closely questioned by Chief Justice J. T. Brown, commissioner chairman, who concluded by admonishing Hammell to "get your facts right."

NOT AS CAREFUL
"This whole thing is a misunderstanding," Hammell said, as the chairman of the commission asked for sources of information on which

May 30 by Arthur Evans, who later became a leader of the trek. Evans himself revealed this as he continued his testimony this morning.

QUESTIONED IN DETAIL
Chief Justice Brown probed deeply into reasons for starting the trek as he questioned Evans in detail. He said he wanted to get at the "reasonableness" of the idea.

MUSICAL EVENT HELPS CHAPTER

Mrs. W. C. Nichol, Gonzales Regent, Sponsors Interesting Programme

Gonzales Chapter, I.O.E., was responsible for an important contribution to the season's artistic pleasures by sponsoring, last night, a delightful musicale at the home of the regent, Mrs. W. C. Nichol, 1759 Rockland Avenue, generously thrown open for the occasion, and about 150 guests enjoyed a succession of vocal and pianoforte solos that were received with much enthusiasm.

The artists were Mrs. Nichol, soprano; Mme. Eva Baird, dramatic soprano, and Mrs. Harty Morden, pianist, with "Dorothy" Goggin and Edgar Holloway acting as accompanists. Mrs. B. H. Tyrwhitt Drake, vice-regent of the chapter, acted as announcer, and other members of the order assisted in various ways with ushering and other details.

VARIED PROGRAMME
The programme was admirably arranged and of rich and varied interest, ranging through the classical and romantic schools to the modern. Mrs. Morden opened the concert, beginning with two difficult Rubinstein compositions.

"The Rubinstein numbers were the 'Barcarole' in A Minor, and the 'Lesenka-Kaukascher Dance' from 'The Demon.' The Pabst transcription of the second (Caucasian Dance) was a brilliant bit of work. The Brahms' waltzes, which constituted the next, made a brilliantly interesting group. The next group began with a Brahms' 'Intermezzo,' and was followed by the Schumann Romance No. 2, and the Liszt transcription for piano of Schumann's 'Widmung.' Mrs. Morden also closed the programme, the number chosen being the Moszkowski Valse Op. 34, No. 1. Twice the artist was recalled for encores, on the first occasion giving the all-active Godowsky waltz, 'Alvein,' and for her second, by special request, 'The Fountain.'

VOCAL NUMBERS
The singers' groups also gave great enjoyment. Mme. Baird's first appearance immediately followed Mrs. Morden's first piano group. There was fine art in every phrase of the sensitively sung 'Crepuscule' by Massenet, sung in pianissimo throughout. Other numbers were 'Jardin d'amour,' in French; Brahms' 'Immer leise wird mein Schlummer,' and Hugo Wolf's 'Erste' in German, followed by an encore, 'Spring Is Here.'

It was in the fine aria from Wagner's 'Lohengrin' ('Elsa's Dream') that Mme. Baird distinguished herself. Her English group included, notably, Ernest Fischer's 'Clouds' and Horsemans' 'Bird of the Wilderness,' both favorites, and followed the much-enjoyed 'Epitaph' (Maurice Beasley) and 'The Piper' (Michael Head).

A charming trio of German, French and English compositions was chosen by Mrs. Nichol for her group, a particular favorite being the Reynaldo Hahn, 'Incredul.' Her first number was Jensen's 'Lein Deine Wang,' sung in clearly-enunciated German, and the last was Mendelssohn's 'First Violet.' For an encore she added one of the great favorites of the Hebridean song collection, 'Land of Heart's Desire.'

stittencies, scored a series of overwhelming victories, while the Nationals re-elected, with the exception of the Maori leader, Sir Apirana Ngata, had small majorities. Prime Minister G. W. Forbes held his seat in Hurunui by a greatly reduced majority.

Forbes, leading a coalition formed to deal with the financial crisis of September, 1931, stood throughout the general election campaign on a platform of "recovery through financial stability," pledging continued encouragement of Empire trade along the lines of the Ottawa agreements and the energetic building up of regular air services to Australia and North America.

PLANNED PRODUCTION
In appealing for a system of planned production, Labor claimed enterprises already nationalized in New Zealand have paid their own way to reduced cost to the consumer. All parties previous to the coalition of 1931 had conducted experiments described as "Socialistic," including a system of state life insurance and the public ownership of many utilities.

Prominent Labor members-elect likely to be selected by Mr. Savage for the Cabinet include Peter Fraser, deputy leader; D. G. Sullivan, mayor of Christchurch; E. J. Howard, one of the most effective debaters in the House; F. Langston, author of the plan for guaranteed prices of farm products, and H. G. Mason, who is described as one of the party's intellectuals. Others mentioned for the Cabinet are R. Semple, Walter Nash, J. A. Lee and Parry Jordan.

HAS NARROW ESCAPE

J. G. Coates, Prime Minister Forbes' first lieutenant and himself a former Prime Minister, narrowly escaped defeat in the Kapara division, which he has represented since 1911. Sir Alexander Hardman, former judge of the Supreme Court, was defeated by a large majority.

A plebiscite held on election day resulted in the overwhelming defeat of proposals for prohibition of the liquor traffic in New Zealand.

SURPLUS ON FAIR LARGE

Amounts to Nearly $7,000, Ald. T. W. Hawkins, President, Announces

A surplus of nearly $7,000 is shown in the British Columbia Agricultural Association's financial statement for the period ending October 31. It was announced yesterday by Alderman T. W. Hawkins, president, following a meeting of the directors.

This means that the fair this year has placed the association in a much stronger position than it was after the 1934 or 1933 fairs. The actual surplus amounts to $6,985.85, which is only $14.15 short of $7,000, Alderman Hawkins stated.

The directors will meet again tomorrow to decide upon what fair dates to ask for next year when the British Columbia Fairs Association meets in Vancouver on December 10.

CONSIDER DATES

It is understood that two periods are being considered, one in August and another in September. The latter month is being favorably considered as the one best for maintaining a large number of entries and also the standard. This is due to the fact that harvesting is completed by the time the fair is held in September.

Directors of the British Columbia Agricultural Association are now busily engaged in making plans for the holding of a much larger fair than in past years, and one that will be in keeping with the celebration of the seventy-fifth anniversary of the fair's founding.

RECALLED TO COLORS

ROME, Nov. 27.—Premier Mussolini today recalled to the colors 100,000 soldiers previously released for farm work and personally presented a $33,000,000 naval construction decree to the Chamber of Deputies.

The Government denied that Marshal Pietro Badoglio had been ordered to march on Lake Tana, source of the Blue Nile in Eastern Ethiopia.

It also was denied that the Italian troops had been routed on the southeast front, and that Italians were forced out of Makale on the northern front to defend their communication lines, reported attacked by Ethiopians in the rear.

LABOR PARTY WINS IN NEW ZEALAND

inated, losing its only seat, as the vast majority of voters chose to support either the Labor party or the National Government.

The Labor party is committed to a programme of planned production along Socialist lines, with state control of credit and currency to guarantee stable prices for the Dominion's farmers, an extensive public works scheme to absorb the unemployed, land settlement projects and Government control of wage levels.

"New Zealand has nothing to fear from a Labor Government," declared Mr. Savage today. "Our object is to co-operate with all our people in the work of building up this Dominion."

LONG IN LEADERSHIP

The sixty-three-year-old Prime Minister-elect has led the Labor party since 1923, when he succeeded the late H. E. Holland after years of apprenticeship as secretary and deputy leader of the party.

The next House of Representatives will contain fifty-two Labor, twenty of the National groups and eight Independents. Two of the National members-elect and two of the Independents represent the four Maori constituencies.

It is possible Mr. Savage will recruit one of the Independents to represent the Maoris, as it is customary to entrust the Ministry of Native Affairs to a representative of their race.

The standing of the parties in the last House of Representatives was: National Government, forty-six; Labor, twenty-four; Democratic Party, Country Party, one, and Independents, seven.

sentiment was crystallizing for approval of oil sanctions against Italy at a meeting of the League of Nations committee of eighteen expected to be held in the middle of next week.

The new Cabinet, meeting for the first time since the general election, was believed to have taken up the oil question. Immediately after the session the King received the Foreign Secretary, Sir Samuel Hoare, but the subject of their talk was not disclosed.

Pointing out that Russia and Rumania, two of the most important sources of Italy's oil supply, had already agreed to an oil embargo against Italy, authoritative sources said they believed the situation was being clarified rapidly.

Ornamental Bloom Drive Planned for Butchart's Gardens

Approach to World Famous "Benvenuto" Will Be Boulevarded and Planted With Flowering Cherry Trees in Joint Decorative Effort

As a gesture towards tourist trade development on Vancouver Island, the British Columbia Government announced yesterday to prepare 7,000 feet of ornamental boulevard on the Benvenuto Road leading to Butchart's Gardens. Plans are underway to plant the strip, approximately a mile and a quarter in length, with early flowering Japanese cherry trees, to be donated by Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Butchart.

Hon. F. M. MacPherson announced the readiness of the Government to assist in the joint undertaking, after negotiation with Reeve William Crouch, on behalf of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce; and Norman W. Whitaker, Liberal member in the Provincial Legislature for the riding.

UNIQUE ATTRACTION

The resulting avenue, it is believed, would form an ornamental complete and well finished, it was said.

DONATE 300 TREES

Five hundred trees of a specially early flowering variety, have been picked out for transplanting at the scene, and these will be the contribution of Mr. and Mrs. Butchart to the success of the scheme.

While final ratification by the Government has not yet been given, Provincial and Saanich engineers have been instructed to prepare estimates of what the undertaking would require. An initial figure of $2,000 was mentioned.

Funeral Services Held for Veteran

The funeral of Thomas Bourne, who passed away at the Royal Jubilee Hospital last Sunday, took place yesterday afternoon. Rev. E. P. Church officiated. During the service Mrs. S. M. Morton rendered the solo "The Old Rugged Cross," and the congregation sang the two hymns, "Abide With Me" and "Rock of Ages."

Many floral tributes testified to the high esteem in which the deceased was held. There were many friends present, including representatives from the Britannia and Pro Patria branches of the Canadian Legion, the 103rd Battalion, the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Pro Patria branch, and also longshoremen. The pallbearers were Sergt. R. Burns, Sergt. J. A. Green and Sergt. Major W. Baylis, all of the 103rd Battalion; A. Christensen, J. W. Irwin and J. Bourget. Interment was made in Ross Bay Cemetery, where a bugler sounded the "Last Post."

TESTING OUT TAXI CHARGES

Minimum Rates Collected Under By-Law Called in Question in Court

The testing out of the city by-law covering minimum charges for taxi services in and about the city, reached the stage, yesterday, in the city police court, where taking of the evidence was proceeded with. Police Magistrate J. reserved decision on points raised in two cases, in which the Oak Bay Taxi Service is charged with violating regulations.

One of the charges involves the point of whether the Oak Bay Taxi Service is within its rights in charging a lower fare when called upon to take a passenger from a point in Oak Bay to somewhere in the city, than is prescribed under the by-law. The other case involves the wider principle of what rights the Oak Bay service would have in operating wholly within the city. C. L. Harrison contended that the city might well be within its rights in regulating under both headings.

NO INTENT ARGUED

Mr. D. Harvey, who appeared for the defendants in the actions, William Ferriday, proprietor of the Oak Bay Taxi Service and Enoch Ferriday, a driver for the same company, contended the by-law sought to have the public pay for services it did not get. There was no intention, on the part of the Oak Bay company to violate any city by-law. There were technical points raised, he argued. C. L. Harrison, for the city, pointed out that the court was not concerned with whether the by-laws were right or wrong in principle. It was not a question of whether they liked the by-laws or not. They had minimum wage laws and early closing laws and all kinds of other regulations. It was not a question of whether they were always just or not. If they were made law, they had to be enforced.

The main witness in the case was Ernest Franklin, who said he was identified with the Central Films. He testified that on November 2, acting for various taxi companies, he had gone to the office of the Oak Bay Taxi, on Oak Bay Avenue, just outside the city in the municipality of Oak Bay and arranged to be taken to the C.P.R. Wharf. William Ferriday had driven him there, taking a fare of 50 cents. Timothy Kerswell accompanied him on the trip, and corroborated the evidence as to the fare charged.

RETURN TRIP MADE

To Mr. Harvey, witness said he telephoned back to the Oak Bay Taxi, on instructions, and asked for a car to take him from the wharf to Amphion Street. He denied that he told Mr. Ferriday that he had only 50 cents.

Mr. Harvey argued that the city had secured a special act from the Legislature in 1934, which gave sanction to a combine, against the general public, being entered into. Mr. Harrison contended that somewhat similar legislation existed with regard to the milk business in the city. If the statute was weak, it might be upset.

SECOND CHARGE

The magistrate reserved his decision in this case and the charge against Enoch Ferriday, which embraced the return trip from the C.P.R. Wharf to Amphion Street, was proceeded with.

Mr. Franklin testified that he telephoned from the wharf and asked if the Oak Bay Taxi would take him from there to Amphion Street, specifying 50 cents as the price. At first the taxi office demurred. When they got near the place, the driver said that he would have to take him into Oak Bay and did so, turning around after entering Oak Bay and letting him off at Amphion. Witness denied, when cross-examined by Mr. Harvey, that he did not mention Amphion Street until he got on the way there. He might have said at first that he wanted to go to Oak Bay.

Geoffrey Edgelow, called in rebuttal by the prosecution, said that he was in the booth with Mr. Franklin, who held the telephone a little from his ear so that both could hear the conversation. Witness testified that Mr. Franklin had said that he wanted to go to Amphion Street. The reply was that he could not run him to that street.

TESTING OUT BY-LAW

To Mr. Harvey, Mr. Edgelow said that the action was taken by the taxi owners to see if the by-law was any good.

William Ferriday said that when he carried passengers between points in the city, the regular charges of the city were used. He had one car that operated under the city licence.

Enoch Ferriday, who drove the car against which the complaint was made, testified that after they were in the car, Franklin said he wanted to get off at Amphion Street. He said he did not know where that street was. Witness told Mr. Franklin he would have to charge more in that case, but Mr. Franklin said he had only 50 cents. The witness then said he would take him to Oak Bay and would drop him off on Amphion Street afterwards.

To Mr. Harrison, Mr. Ferriday said that the passenger paid when he got out at Amphion Street. This decision was reserved also. A similar charge against Leslie Williams involving violation of the rates, was dismissed as there was no evidence forthcoming in the case.

STATES MANY CARS UNSAFE

Head of Motor Club Declares Average Life of Automobile Is Eight Years

That many automobiles are being used long after they have become mechanically unsafe is amply demonstrated by a recent showing that the average car life has risen to eight and one-quarter years, as compared with approximately six and one-half years just before the depression.

This statement was made yesterday by C. H. French, president of the Victoria Automobile Club. Mr. French continued:

"The estimate of average car life is based on figures showing the amount of yearly production, the number of registrations, and the number of vehicles scrapped. THIRTEEN YEARS

"That many ancient vehicles, well over the eight-year mark, are still in operation, is amply demonstrated by a recent computation of motor vehicle mortality which showed that at the close of 1934, nearly one-fourth of all motor vehicles in operation at that time were more than eight years old.

"For instance, approximately 1,500,000 vehicles had been in operation for nine years, while some 27,000 cars were still being driven despite the fact they had reached the venerable age of thirteen years. DEFINITE MENACE

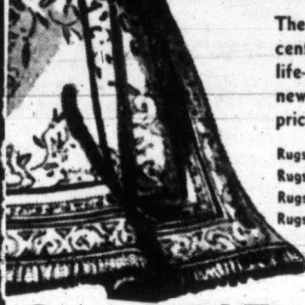

"That cars as old as this present a definite menace to street and highway safety almost goes without saying. Seldom do owners of these antiquated junk-heaps keep their cars in good mechanical condition, and their operation with bad brakes and other safety features in poor repair presents a definite menace to other users of the highway.

"The unusually large sale of automobiles this year has been caused largely through replacements, and it is to be hoped that the majority of these dilapidated vehicles will be thrown into discard where they properly belong." Mr. French concluded.

Steps have been taken to form an Anti-Daylight Saving League in Victoria. It was learned yesterday. CANADIAN CONCESSIONS TO U.S.A.

The American concessions granted to Canada under the new reciprocity pact include: more favored nation treatment; minimum tariff granted any country, outside of the United States possessions and Cuba, on every commodity; reductions in duty on sixty-three items; a guarantee of continuing free entry for twenty-one items now on the free list, and assurance of no increase in present duties on four items. The concessions granted by this country to the United States include: most favored nation treatment; minimum tariff rates accorded any country, apart from countries of the British Empire, on every commodity; specific further reductions on sixty-eight items in the Canadian tariff; free entry on twenty items now dutiable; a guarantee not to increase the intermediate tariff on seventy-seven items, and a guarantee not to impose duties on fifteen items now duty free.

The New York Times believes that under the pact Canada has given a great deal more to the United States than she is to receive from that country. The concessions granted by this country cover a far longer list of products. That newspaper points out that the reductions, specified by name in Schedule 1, together with a few items on which the existing rates are bound against increase, number about 180. "This, with the extension of the 'most favored foreign nation' items, means lowered charges on our (American) products covering no fewer than 767 items and sub-items of the Canadian tariff." The Times says Canada makes reductions in rates on imports of lamb, pork, bacon and hams running from 25 to 85 per cent and of 50 per cent on eggs. This country also reduces the duty on American wheat, admits potatoes free, makes a 25 per cent reduction in the duty on grapes, a 50 per cent reduction in that on grapefruit, puts oranges on the free list, lowers the tariff on books 10 per cent, takes the duty off certain types of magazines, reduces that on films and chemicals, cuts the gasoline duty 10 per cent, makes substantial reductions on steel ingots, bars, rods, rails and beams, slashes the duty on nearly all agricultural machinery 50 per cent (from 25 per cent ad valorem to 12.5 per cent), cuts the duty on textile machinery by the same percentage, reduces the tariff on radios and electric refrigerators, and reduces that on low-priced automobiles 12 per cent and on higher priced 25 per cent.

In explaining the effect of the reciprocity pact, Washington lays emphasis on the fact that there will be a change in the Canadian system of valuing commodities for duties, reducing greatly the "arbitrary assessments" often greatly exceeding the invoice values. It would seem that President Roosevelt and his advisers deserve every congratulation on having secured such great concessions from Canada. The United States during the coming three years will have a superior opportunity to any ever existing before of flooding this country with its surplus products. It will be possible, probably with profit, for United States manufacturers to close many of the branch factories which they have established in this Dominion.

BANK LOANS AND BANK DEPOSITS

Sir Thomas White has been answering some of the strictures made about banks, in an article he has contributed to the Monthly Commercial Letter of the Bank of Commerce. He alludes specifically to the statement, so often cavalierly made, that all bank deposits are made by bankers themselves and that "money" is thus created by mere book-keeping entries in the ledgers of the chartered banks. There is no such ease in the "creation" of money, and allegations to this effect could only emanate from those who are unskilled in the technique of banking and who have imbibed that common political cant in relation to economics that something can be created out of nothing.

Sir Thomas explains (and no explanation should be needed where common sense is exercised), that when a loan is made by a bank to any type of borrower a credit, called a deposit, is set up in the borrower's favor in the books of the bank. He draws cheques against this deposit to the extent of his loan. The proceeds of the credit, or deposit, so drawn upon find their way back to the bank, or other banks, by way of individual deposits of those to whom the proceeds of the credit were paid by the borrower, or others with whom he dealt. The essential point, says Sir Thomas, is "that against the credit, or deposit, in the borrower's favor the capital of the borrower in question—that is to say, his actual wealth and, if the loan is made for productive purposes, the value of his production during the loan—becomes security to the bank for repayment of the loan. If this were not deemed adequate security by the bank the loan and the so-called deposit would never have come into being."

The axiomatic outcome of this explanation is that credit is neither manufactured out of the "blue sky," nor by bookkeeping entries. It rests, as Sir Thomas says, upon the financial worth or capital and business capabilities of borrowers. This fundamental fact is conveniently overlooked for political purposes by those who contend that bank credit is created out of nothing. What is also overlooked in the fatuous argument relating to credit is that when credits are created in favor of bank customers, whether borrowers or savings depositors, "a bank must be always prepared to meet cash demands of depositors, and cheques drawn and deposited with other banks against these credits by payment through the daily bank clearings, not in their own notes, but in legal tender which is issued, not by the banks, but by the Bank of Canada." This, Sir Thomas explains, is why a bank must always keep "liquid" to the extent found necessary under the experience of bankers in the conduct of their business along safe lines. To do this banks have to keep a considerable percentage of their assets in legal tender. Summarizing his argument, Sir Thomas White says: "Under a sound system of banking the obligations of banks to their customers must be at all times secured by the financial resources of those who borrow from them, whether producers who require temporary credit pending the creation and marketing of their finished products, or governments in respect of their securities, or borrowers against bonds and stocks. When bankers thus create deposits in favor of borrowers for convenience in the operation of their credits, such deposits represent the sums borrowed, which, as stated, are deemed to be adequately secured by actual wealth existing at the date of the loans, or, in the case of loans for productive purposes, come into being as a result of the proceeds of the credits being chequed out by the borrowers to enable them to pay for labor, raw materials and other necessary items entering into the cost of production of their finished products. Credits are not, therefore, manufactured out of nothing, blue sky, or by bookkeeping entries, but against real wealth, which, through the technique of banking, is rendered 'liquid' to serve the financial needs of the agriculture, industry and commerce of the nation."

WHERE WOMEN CANNOT LIE

Much information about Ethiopia is being given to the public in these latter days, and a flood of light has been turned on what was formerly almost an unknown state. Probably before the Italian-Ethiopian War few people knew of what Rosita Forbes tells in The Passing Show, how in Ethiopia a woman's word is inviolate, and that is what it is not anywhere else on earth. When the female of the species gives evidence in an Ethiopian court it needs no supporting testimony. The reason "she cannot lie" is because the consequences of a falsehood reduce her to the status of an outcast. If she lies, which is rarely, her locks are shorn off and some of the skin of her skull as well. She is "shorn and dishonored"; a priest will not confess her; her fellow villagers will have no dealings with her, they draw aside when she passes; she is a pariah. Her only resources are either to become a nun or else to throw in her lot with the robber bands of the hills. There is no lie for which there is any ameliorative consideration. She must in this particular be like Caesar's wife—"above suspicion." Her ways must be ways of truthfulness.

The Green Shirts, the Social Credit Party of Great Britain, promised a "national dividend" of $30 a week to all in its manifesto in the late election campaign. In that country the people are possessed of too great a sense of humor to take the proposal seriously, and this despite the fact that there was an added promise that the "national dividend" could rapidly increase to "at least $2,500 a year per family of four"—on condition that you were willing to help production by working hard when your work was needed.

"In one of the week-end robberies, etc."—This is a form of announcing a particular incident by a news broadcaster from Vancouver. It is taken for granted that there will be a series of week-end robberies in that city, and this despite the fact that the promise was made that crime would be put an end to after three months of the present regime.

CANADA'S MEMORIAL

The Canadian War Memorial, which has been erected at Vimy Ridge to designs by the Canadian sculptor, Mr. Walter Allward, is now practically completed. The work has been going forward for ten years, has involved the use of some 10,000 cubic feet of stone, specially quarried in Yugoslavia, stands 138 feet high on a base 237 feet long, and contains the names of 11,700 men of the Canadian forces who were reported as missing and also bears a tribute to the soldiers of France who laid down their lives on Vimy Ridge. Their sacrifice is symbolized in a series of twenty figures grouped between and around two enormous pylons. Each figure alone is twelve feet high. The last scaffolding are now being removed, and the last letters of the names and figures wrought in the special panels.

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

Judgment is forced upon us by experience.—Johnson.

The result of the provincial election in Quebec proves that the depression is a more deadly foe of governments than mere party politicians. The Taschereau Government has been in power for nearly forty years and seemed to be entrenched in power for another indefinite period. Yet the veteran Premier's embattled forces were shattered by a political cyclone, and Mr. Taschereau escaped defeat by little more than "the skin of his teeth." The result was not a triumph for any political party. It was a moral victory for the depression. Before the election there was but a handful of Conservatives in the Legislature, and the Liberals appeared to be a solid and impregnable unit. When the House was dissolved there was no indication of disaffection in the Liberal ranks. Within a week or two of polling the Conservatives and the dissenting Liberals formed a coalition and came within half a dozen constituencies of defeating the Government.

The election in Quebec should clear all the political atmosphere, with the exception of that of the municipalities. There are no issues left likely to be affected by the alleged investigations of commissions, royal or plebeian. Yet commissions are sitting, and there is talk of new commissions being appointed. The King Government is in power for a term. The Bennett Government is out of power, and we do not comprehend what political object is to be gained by a commission sitting in Regina for the alleged purpose of disclosing responsibility for the trek of the unemployed to Ottawa.

No evidence is needed to reveal the fact that the unemployed march to the capital, if it was not organized by Liberal governments in British Columbia and in the Prairie Provinces, was encouraged and facilitated by Liberal agents for the purpose of inciting ignorant public opinion against the then Federal Government. The purpose having been accomplished, and Mr. Bennett having been called a liar by two of the emissaries of patriotic Liberalism; Mr. Tim Buck having been released from the penitentiary and the principle of liberty of the subject and freedom of speech having been vindicated by the victim of intolerance contesting and losing an election, as no more party capital can be made by prolonging the political farce, why this Royal Commission carrying on its alleged investigation?

There is a reason for all those apparently inexplicable things. Although the commission may make a report of voluminous proportions, and although that report will be published in the newspapers and received and filed by the King Government, and nothing done about it because nothing can be done about it except pay the bills of the legal commissioner and the fees and expenses of the lawyers and the witnesses; although the report will be filed and forgotten, yet the purpose for which the commission was appointed will be fulfilled. That purpose was providing lucrative jobs for supporters of the Government who could not otherwise be conveniently remunerated for their party services.

We were struck by some points made by one of the learned counsel. One point, made on behalf of the Premier of Saskatchewan (now Minister of Agriculture in the King Government), was that the Federal Minister of Justice had no right to arrest the progress of the trekkers to Ottawa for the purpose of expressing their intelligent and unbiased opinions of Mr. Bennett, because they were the guests of the railway companies, not trespassers and law breakers. Another interesting point made by learned counsel was that as the names of the former Prime Minister and Minister of Justice had been introduced in the proceedings, those two gentlemen should be summoned before the august and independent tribunal for the purpose of giving evidence and being examined and cross-examined. If an ordinary radical be given an opportunity of calling the Prime Minister of Canada a liar, why, for the sake of saving a few thousand dollars, should a gentleman learned in the law be denied the opportunity of questioning his veracity? The bar obviously should be permitted to share in the honors.

So do not say the Regina investigation is not fulfilling any special purpose. It was appointed for a definite and specific purpose, and it is doing its work. Its proceedings may be as prolonged as the proceedings of a commission appointed in British Columbia for the purpose of finding out why the prices of coal are low and the prices of some other kinds of fuel are high. It is extraordinary when you think the matter over what an expanse of territory may be incorporated in the ap-

New Growing Oranges

Victoria is coming along as a competitor of California. First she has the oranges. Now she's growing oranges. At the Empress Hotel on Saturday afternoon visitors were surprised to see, in the hall, outside the ballroom, a small tree laden with full-sized tangerines, ripe and temptingly ready for picking. F. A. Saunders, head gardener at the Empress, has been nursing the tree along for about sixteen years, and was exceedingly proud to be able at last to show his crop of twenty-five "juicers." Unfortunately some thirty souls, maybe anticipating the before-breakfast glass, stole four of the tangerines some time during the afternoon, and the tree went into retirement with only twenty-one. The fruit is of the "Mandarin," or "kid-glove" variety, imported here from Japan in such quantities about this season of the year. The management at the hotel reports that large lemons are now grown in the hothouses. It will soon be time to start advertising Victoria as a citrus fruit country.—J.E.M.B.

A Lot of Truth in That

Hank the Philosopher says: "There'd be a lot less traffic jams on dark roads these nights if th' only sparkin' in cars went on under th' engine hood."—W.I.F.

"My First Dollar"

"I don't remember my first dollar, but I do remember seeing three boys sitting on the curb in front of the old Occidental Hotel, Wharf Street, in the Nineties, with handfuls of American nickels," a Canadian immigration official told me yesterday. "It was in the days when they used 'long bits' and 'short bits,' and nothing less than ten cents was good as money. These boys had their dollars, but they were playing 'jacks' with them. Each had a ten-gallon hat stuffed to the brim with nickels," he confided.—S.G.

Hock With Hockey

People in Canada go to hockey games bundled up in heavy coats, mufflers, gloves and even rug or blankets, but not in England. No sir, they attend the games there in style. English spectators are attired in evening dress, sit at little tables and sip drinks while the players flash up and down the frozen surface. However, the Old Country folk may change and get to the stage of throwing pot hats and champagne buckets at the referee.—J.D.

Another Broadcast

We saw a druggist's automobile yesterday with a small bed spring running the full width of the machine underneath. Scrutiny revealed that it was being used as an aerial for his automotive radio-receiving set. . . . At least two dozen broadcast listeners have mentioned to us that the broken French-English of many Canadian Radio Commission announcers jars them considerably. This also reminded us of a tourist last Summer who gave us a list of "foreign" radio stations he often received. Looking up several to-day in Eastern Canada. . . . Then we are reminded of the ancient lament, "What do we get for our $2 annual radio licence fee?" Many long-suffering listeners hope they live to see the day when it will be an offence to pollute the air with electrical noises.

The man who dumps garbage upon an empty lot is heavily fined, but his neighbor who allows energy to radiate from electrical machinery, etc., is allowed to continue his nefarious course unchecked. But there will come a day. . . . In many sections of the United States, a local radio technician tells us, all electrical equipment must pass a test abolishing it from radio interference before it is allowed to go into regular operation. Success and Failure
In Distance Flying
Vividly Illustrated

While Pilot Broadbent Was Making Record-Breaking Solo Flight, Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith, on Same Errand, Was Lost

Flying solo, in a standard type of British light airplane, H. F. Broadbent has succeeded in completing the journey between England and Australia in less than a week. It is a poignant coincidence that the pilot whose record Broadbent successfully attacked, Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith, was at the time engaged on an attempt to beat Scott and Black's England-Australia record and that he is now missing. Thus the difficulties and risks of long-distance record-breaking were being vividly illustrated at the very moment when Broadbent arrived in triumph at Port Darwin.

His time was 6 days, 21 hours and 19 minutes compared with Kingsford-Smith's 7 days, 4 hours, 47 minutes. His airplane was a Percival Gull cabin monoplane with Gipsy-Six engine. The only modification made to it for the flight was the addition of an extra fuel tank which was located in the cabin. This increased the maximum range of the airplane in still air to about 2,400 miles. The Gull is one of the fastest touring light airplanes of the present day.

ROUGH WEATHER

The route chosen was by way of Marseille, Rome, Karachi, and Batavia to Port Darwin. Karachi was reached on the fourth day. Broadbent experienced appalling weather on the section of the flight from Rangoon to Singapore. Here he had to fight his way through torrential rain, gales and heavy clouds. Perhaps the most remarkable part of Broadbent's achievement is his crossing of Australia from Darwin to Sydney in eighteen hours. This is the first time the continent has been crossed by a light airplane in less than a day.

While Mr. Broadbent was flying from England to Australia, C. J. Melrose was also flying on the same route. But he interrupted his journey to join in the search for Kingsford-Smith. Melrose is another member of that courageous band of Australians who have achieved fame through their high speed, long-range solo flights. On this occasion he was flying a Percival Gull similar to Broadbent's.

The high-speed flights made between England and Australia constitute in themselves a miniature history of the advances that have been made in airplanes and engines and in the technique of handling them. The first flight over the route was that made by Captain Ross Smith, Lieut. Keith Smith, Sergeant J. M. Bennett and Sergeant W. H. Shiner. They flew a Vickers Vimy airplane fitted with two Rolls-Royce engines and they completed the journey in twenty-nine days. That was in November and December, 1919.

Then came that first and greatest of all long-distance solo flights, the one made by Squadron-Leader H. J. L. Hinkler. He flew an Avro Avian and took fifteen and a half days. That was in February, 1923, and the "Court" boats left last evening. Hinkler's speed was improved upon, although Miss Amy Johnson, as she was then, made a flight which attracted a great deal of public attention in May, 1930, when she piloted her de Havilland Moth to Australia in nineteen and a half days.

BRITISH PLANES

Kingsford-Smith, C. W. A. Scott and J. A. Mollison are names which recur in the lists of outward and homeward records; and it is noteworthy that, with one exception, all those records were established by British airplanes. The last record in the list is perhaps the most striking. It is the flight made by Scott and T. Campbell Black in their de Havilland Comet airplane during the MacRobertson Trophy race. Their time for the journey was 2 days, 23 hours, 18 minutes.

Besides the concerted attacks upon the England-Australia record that have been made during the past week, there have been other record attempts and achievements. Flying Officer David Llewellyn and Mrs. Jill Wyndham flew from South Africa to England in 6 days, 12 hours, 3 minutes. On the outward journey they had attempted unsuccessfully to beat the record set up by Mrs. Mollison in November, 1933, when in a de Havilland Puss Moth with Gipsy Major engine, she did the journey in 4 days, 6 hours, 54 minutes.

CLOSE WATCH ON LIQUOR VESSELS

Coast Guard Boats and Planes Check Movements of Freighters Off New England

BOSTON, Nov. 27 (AP)—A cat-and-mouse campaign to prevent the landing of perhaps the largest contraband liquor shipment since prohibition was repealed in the United States was disclosed today by Joseph Maynard, collector of the Port of Boston.

Six or seven foreign freighters roll in the ocean swell between seventy-five and 100 miles off the New England coast, Maynard said. They carry in their holds, he added, alcohol they hope to land without paying taxes of approximately $2,000,000. Further inshore coast guard patrol boats lay for liquor-laden small craft, now huddled around the freighters awaiting a chance to run in, while overhead, coast guard planes daily check the movements of the mother ships, Maynard declared.

Aorangi Here This Afternoon—Dinteldyk and Viking Star Due

Making up a little time, according to advices received at the local offices of Canadian Pacific Steamships, the Canadian-Australasian liner Aorangi, Captain J. F. Spring-Brown, commander, is expected alongside Rithet Pier between 3 and 4 o'clock this afternoon. The Aorangi will proceed to Vancouver on completing business here.

According to the American Mail Line office here, the Blue Star freighter Viking Star is due alongside Ogden Point Pier Saturday morning to load cargo for London. The Viking Star is coming in from San Pedro and will lift seven cargoes of apples from the local Cold Storage and Terminal Warehouse plant. Completing here, the Viking Star will continue to Mainland ports.

Due from the United Kingdom and Holland by way of Panama and California ports, the Holland-America Line motorship Dinteldyk is expected Saturday morning at Ogden Point Pier, according to Adam P. Moffatt, local representative.

Completing loading lumber cargo at Ogden Point assembly plant, the two "Court" boats left last evening. The Court boats are for sea and the Gedding Court for Chemalmus.

Congratulations to W. M. Allan, local representative of American Mail Line and Pacific Steamship Lines, who passes another milestone today. Mr. Allan is the dean of Victoria transportation men, all of whom will be wishing him many happy returns.

SKIPPER BUYS FISHING BOAT

Capt. William Heater Owner of Thetis—Scrap Iron For Japan

SOKEE, November 27.—The Thetis, a twenty-eight-foot gas fishing boat, was sold by public auction by A. J. Maynard on Tuesday afternoon. The auction was held at the Sooke Harbor Company's wharf, where it has been since the death of its owner, Louis LeBlanc.

Captain William Heater, of Victoria, was the purchaser of the Thetis, and when he is not absent on whaling expeditions, will use her for fishing and pleasure cruising. An exceptionally large number of would-be purchasers were present.

Two 400-ton scows are being loaded at the Sooke Government wharf with steel rails, taken from the logging railway which extended through timber lands between Sooke and Jordan River.

The rails are being trucked and will be taken to Vancouver, where they will be transhipped on Japanese freighters for delivery in Japan. The rails are expected to total 1,000 tons in weight.

The Sooke Harbor Fishing and Packing Company is busy putting away its fish-traps after a busy season.

VANCOUVER SHIPPING

VANCOUVER, Nov. 27 (AP)—Ms. Felice, of the Navigazione Libera Triestina (Italian Line), has arrived from the Mediterranean to Empire Shipping Company with anchovies, vermouth, fish in oil, olives, glassware, asbestos, olive oil and other products. She will load newspaper for Central America, lumber for Egypt, copra for Italy, and considerable general cargo for Italy and other Mediterranean countries.

The Donaldson Line Ss. Corrientes, Capt. M. McK. Brown, arrived overnight to Balfour, Guthrie & Co., with bananas from South America, general cargo from United Kingdom, and citrus fruits from California. The ship will load general cargo and apples outward, her fruit consignment at New Westminster totaling 60,000 boxes.

Reports state Coughlans (British Canadian Steamship Co., Ltd.) will dispatch Ss. City of Vancouver, January 1, to Australia on a regular new service from this country. The ship will be followed early in February by the chartered freighter Ss. Redsea.

The Furness Line Ms. Pacific Exporter has sailed for London with three passengers aboard. Her full passenger accommodation will be occupied by the time she takes final departure from California ports.

After loading thirty-five carloads of apples at New Westminster, Ms. Oregon Express is expected to sail overnight for Havre, Rotterdam, Liverpool and Glasgow.

Italian-Ethiopian War Swells Suez Canal Receipts

PARIS, Nov. 27 (AP)—An increase of 30,000,000 francs (about $2,275,000) in Suez Canal receipts in 1935 over 1934 was forecast today by canal officials. Italian military operations, it was announced, were entirely responsible for an increase in tariff which made the income, from January 1 to November 20, 789,000,000 francs compared with 759,000,000 francs for the corresponding period of last year.

Yacht Ready for World Tour NEW YORKER KEEPS WORD

Promise Made Two Years Ago Will Be Redeemed On Saturday

VANCOUVER, Nov. 28.—To Starling W. Childs, prominent New York financier, a promise is a promise.

In fulfillment of a promise he made to Capt. L. D. Douglas, R.N.R., following a Pacific crossing in the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Japan a couple of years ago that he would make another trip with him before the captain retired from service, Mr. Childs, accompanied by Mrs. Childs, Mr. and Mrs. Winfield K. Shirras and Mrs. Henry Graham Brown, also socially prominent in New York, will sail out to the Orient Saturday, with Captain Douglas in his big white liner.

There was no other reason for the tour, the New Yorker said, in a letter received here by J. C. Foster, steamship general passenger agent of the Canadian Pacific.

Mr. Childs and his party will arrive here at 9 a.m., Friday, in a special car coming by the Canadian Pacific's Rockies route.

They will accompany Capt. Douglas as far as Hongkong, remaining in the Far East while the big ship is in drydock for overhaul and coming back to Vancouver late in January in the Empress of Japan.

"He was intoxicated and in a daze," William Turner, son of the boatswain Harry Urbich, in telling of events aboard the vessel after the fire was discovered.

Torres said he had gone to the boatswain's quarters after hearing the fire alarm.

COMMITTEE ON HEALTH REPORT

Recommendations to Government Withheld—Suggest Revision of Plan

Recommendations "upon which a new and modified scheme of health insurance for British Columbia will be drafted" were presented to Hon. Dr. G. M. Weir yesterday by Dr. Alton Peabes, chairman of a Provincial committee of sixteen members that investigated public reaction to suggested introduction of the measure last Summer.

A total of 139 organizations and individuals appeared before the committee in eighteen hearings. In the main, they favored the principle of health insurance, while some objections were entered to the proposed terms of the suggested legislation.

SUGGESTIONS OBSERVED
The text of the committee's recommendations to the Government was not made public, though a prepared statement said that this had been filed with the Provincial Secretary. The statement alluded at length to actual submissions before the committee, already reported at public meetings of the group.

"The committee has reached the conclusion that British Columbia wants health insurance at an early date, but the plan for discussion tabled at the last session of the Legislature is too comprehensive and too costly in its full outline at the present time. Suggestions for revising the scheme were made to conform with this point of view," the statement asserted before reviewing evidence.

SEARCH VANCOUVER FOR BANK ROBBERS

Lynn walked into the bank while the drawer was being rifled and was ordered to lie on the floor with the employees.

HERDED IN BASEMENT
After emptying the teller's drawer, the bandits herded their prisoners to the basement, locked the door, then fled to a waiting automobile in the alley.

Fuller slipped out of a rear door in the basement and telephoned police, who arrived a few minutes after the gunmen had escaped. A short time later an automobile bearing licence plates tallying with those noted on the bandit car as it sped away, was located in the 100 Block West Third. The engine of the car was cold, however, and police believed the gunmen had duplicated the licence number on plates for their stolen machine.

IN FORMER ROBBERY
K. Anderson, bank manager, who figured in a $25,000 payroll robbery eleven years ago, was absent at the time. In 1924, Mr. Anderson, then driver of a bank car, was held up at Drake and Granville Streets by a number of gunmen in an automobile and robbed of the money to meet payroll, which he was taking to the same branch help up today.

SENDING STREAM OF TROOPS TO N. CHINA

empty trains were being sent South to transport Chinese troops to the North for action against the Japanese.

The Japanese claimed railway movements threatened to isolate Japanese forces in Peiping. Traffic to the south was suspended for several hours and was resumed only when the Chinese agreed to send no trains farther south than Tsinan and Shantung.

ADMITS HELPLESSNESS
General Shang Chen, Governor of Hopei Province, telegraphed his resignation because of his inability to stop the autonomy movement. An autonomous regime was established on Monday in the demilitarized zone of Eastern Hopei Province but the original programme for self-government by the Provinces of Hopei, Chahar, Shansi, Hantung and Suiyuan thus far has not been carried through.

In a communique issued today Major-General Rensuke Isogai, Japanese military attaché here, said he had urged the Nanking Government to adopt the following three-point programme.

1. Cancellation of the new monetary programme in so far as it affects North China.
2. A definite statement of China's attitude toward co-operation with Japan to stamp out communism in the North.
3. Dismissal of "powerful figures" responsible for discontent in the North.

THREAT TO PROVINCE

TSINAN, Shantung, China, Nov. 28 (P)—Japan's military fist was poised over this province of 30,000,000 persons today as provincial officials outwardly continued cool toward the North China autonomy programme threatening to engulf the neighboring Provinces of Hopei and Chahar.

Officials here expressed apprehension at the Japanese troop concentration at Tientsin-Pukow railway which pierces Shantung.

SEIZE RAIL CONTROL

PEIPING, China, Nov. 27.—The Japanese army seized control of all railway arteries in Hopei Province today.

Three trains were held in readiness, ostensibly to rush troops to Southern Hopei if needed to forestall any possible movement against this province by troops of the National Chinese Government. Nanking soldiers allegedly were concentrating in Honan Province.

HURLED DEFIANCE

Yin Ju-Keng, self-appointed chairman of a newly-formed independent state in East Hopei Province, hurled defiance at the Nanking Government, asserting no one dared to trespass the demilitarized zone and arrest him.

Dispatches had said the arrest of Yin Ju-Keng was one of the points in a Nanking programme to halt the North China autonomy movement.

PATHOLOGIST RETURNS HERE

Dr. William Newton Says England Alert to Its Agricultural Problems

After an eighteen-month stay in England, where he represented the Dominion Government in research on virus disease in potatoes and other agricultural crops, with the view to laboratory extension for the intensive study of this class of disease and its control, Dr. William Newton, head of the plant pathological laboratory at the Dominion Experimental Station at Saanichton, recently returned here.

Dr. Newton explained England was alert to agricultural problems and had a large group working in scientific research, employing the best men they could find from every part of the Empire.

STUDYING METHODS

While he said he believed agriculture in Canada was better organized, Dr. Newton admitted England was rapidly improving, having achieved a 9 per cent increase in production last year alone. Britain, he added, was closely studying Canadian and Australian methods of grading and marketing.

The virus disease had made big inroads on the potatoes and other vegetable crops in England, he stated, explaining that large bodies of trained men were employed to combat this disease. As yet, Canada has not done its share in control measures, he declared.

Dr. Newton spent the major portion of his stay in England at the Rothamsted Agricultural Station, at Harpenden, where Sir John Russell is in charge. However, he visited many agricultural stations, laboratories and conferences.

MONO-GRAMS—here, there, everywhere, on undies, towels, bags, 'kerchiefs—way back East they have gone MAD over mono-grams! Noticed a particularly sleek chromium bracelet about an inch wide, with large tricky initials set on it, $1.50; also newest of new, a dainty monogrammed compact, $1.98.

Took a jaunt through the UNDE DEPARTMENT—just can't help mention- ing in pass- ing, a certain ravishing palest-of-blue nightie, ruffles of net like a cloud at neckline and hem, $2.95. And, have you seen the gorgeous Chinese hand-embroidered lingerie? Every tiny infinitesimal stitch is patiently and skilfully worked exquisitely fragile—panties, $1.98; slips, $3.50; panties and Tiedie sets, $2.50 (hint to Santa!)

Let's step down to the Street Floor for a peek at Ladies' Belts—the latest ones from New York. They've taken on a new importance, characterizing the grand mode of 1935. Swanky suede in black, navy, winetones, etc., gold studded—tan- talizing buckles. There's a dream of a belt in smooth brown suede, peppered with gold studs, $2.98; also a particularly smart navy blue, deftly made with tiny knife pleats, $1.50.

You'll adore the new "Blouse of the Week" each week four gorgeous blouses are rushed straight to "The Bay" from the fashion centres. "The Duchess" in frothy white, delicate pink, sparkling red and mellow gold—heavy satin, shiny as a newly polished floor, $2.98.

In TOY- LAND one gets so carried away! There's a darling Baby Hud- son doll at $3.95; she's dressed up in the cutest clothes. And then there is "Cuddles," who is just what her name implies—cuddly! (The same as purchased by Her Majesty the Queen.) Passed a little "Scottie" doggie, plaid ribbon and all—he's a real thoroughbred, too, $1.25. In response to a request from the hospital board, the Senior Women's Auxiliary of the Jubilee Hospital at its meeting at the Nurses' Home yesterday afternoon voted the sum of $410 to purchase an inductotherm, a necessary piece of hospital equipment of the most up-to-date type.

Denniston, convener of the ball in conjunction with Mrs. R. H. B. Ker, was present at the meeting and votes of thanks were extended to her and Mrs. Ker. Mrs. J. Sutherland Brown, convener of the bridge; Miss Helen Crawford, ticket convener, and sincere thanks were also given the press for generous publicity and the general public for its whole-hearted support in making the ball such an outstanding success.

Plans were made for the usual Christmas cheer for the patients and staff and the arrangements were left in the hands of Mrs. E. H. Griffiths, who has been convener of this work for many years. Miss Mitchell requested the auxiliary donate tobacco for the aged men in the new hospital annex and the necessary amount was voted until other arrangements could be made. Plans for the annual linen shower on St. Valentine's Day, February 14, were made.

Miss Curry, who, with Mrs. Cecil French, attended the British Columbia Hospitals' convention as representatives of the auxiliary, gave an interesting report of the meetings.

Miss Latsy Bird Bride Of Mr. R. D. McCulloch

St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay, Scene of Pretty Wedding Last Evening—Bride and Groom Will Reside Here

St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay, had been beautifully decorated last night by friends of the bride, under the direction of Mrs. M. Blay, for one of the prettiest of the late Autumn weddings, the principals being Hilda Margaret (Latsy), daughter of Mrs. Bird, Chaucer Street, and of the late Mr. Arthur John Bird, and Mr. Richard David McCulloch, only son of Mrs. McCulloch, Wildwood Avenue, and of the late Mr. R. McCulloch.

Tall standard baskets filled with feathery pink chrysanthemums and tied with bows, and long streamers of pink tulle, adorned the chancel, and the guest pews were festooned with sprays of pink chrysanthemums and bows of white tulle.

Rev. Canon Nunns performed the service in the presence of a large congregation, and the surprised choir was in attendance.

BRIDE AND ATTENDANTS
The tall, golden-haired bride, with her charming retinue, was a lovely figure as she walked up the aisle with her brother, Mr. Arthur J. Bird, of honor. The former wore orchid shade and carried yellow chrysanthemums, and the latter Nile green, with a bouquet of mauve chrysanthemums.

Little Kate Miller was a pretty little flower girl dressed in pale crepe de Chine with a wreath of flowers in her hair, and she carried a Colonial posy.

The groomsmen were Mr. Thomas Stevenson, and conducting the guests to their pews were Messrs. Gordon Veley, Arthur Baker, Victor Coombe and Grant Stewart. As the register was being signed, Mrs. Bern Lanning sang "O Promise Me," and the wedding party then left the church to Mendelssohn's Wedding March.

RECEPTION HELD
About two hundred guests attended the reception later, which was held in St. Mary's Hall, where the popular young couple received the felicitations of their friends who were welcomed on arrival by Mrs. Bird, in a floor-length gown of cerise georgette, cut in studio style, and a black hat trimmed with cerise velvet, assisted by the groom's mother, in a dress of black triple georgette appliqued in white, and a black model hat.

The supper-table was arranged with pink carnations and tall pink tapers in silver candelabra, and centred with the handsome three-tiered wedding cake, made by Mrs. C. Ripplingale, an old friend of the bride's family. Canon Nunns proposed the toast to the bride, to which the bridegroom suitably responded.

WILL LIVE AT OAK BAY

Mr. and Mrs. McCulloch left by the midnight boat for Vancouver, from where they will motor to California, and on their return they will reside in their new home on Roslyn Road, Oak Bay. For traveling the bride chose a Nile green boucle knitted suit with a matching hat and brown accessories.

Among the guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. D. McCulloch, Winnipeg; Mr. and Mrs. H. Harse, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Mills, Calgary; Mr. and Mrs. J. Moon, Winnipeg; Mr. and Mrs. G. Harper, Calgary; Mr. and Mrs. J. Dawney, Stockton, California; and Mrs. R. Davies, Mrs. W. Hynes, and Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Reid, all of Vancouver.

Included in the lovely array of wedding gifts were a Westminster chime mantel clock and a case of afternoon tea knives from the bridegroom's former associates in the Hudson's Bay Co., and a waffle iron from those of the bride, who was employed there until the end of June; a reading lamp from the staff of the Capitol Theatre, to which the bride has been recently attached, and a bridge lamp from the manager.

Weddings

HARPER-FORD

The wedding took place in Metropolitan United Church yesterday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock of Ruby Roberts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. Ford, North Park Street, and Mr. Basil Harper, son of Mrs. A. Harper, Pandora Avenue, and of the late Mr. Harper, Rev. E. F. Church officiating. The bride was attended by Mrs. L. Wagstaff and Miss Alice McAlpine, and the best man was Mr. Wagstaff.

The bride wore a suit of navy blue cloth, a matching velvet turban and a corsage bouquet of Ophelia rosebuds. The matron of honor was in a tulle dress of pearly purple with a velvet top and crepe de Chine skirt, and a matching hat, and the bridesmaids wore a frock of English violet chiffon velvet and jacket, a black hat and a black lapin cape, and they both wore corsage bouquets of pink carnations.

About 100 guests later assembled at the Club Continental, where refreshments were served from a table arranged in the shape of a horseshoe, a four-tiered cake being placed at the head. Pink carnations and tall lighted pink tapers in silver holders were used in decoration. The attractive arrangement was the work of Mrs. J. Kinsman, Miss Myne Baker and Miss Alice McAlpine.

Mrs. Ford wore for the wedding a dress of navy blue-crepe, a matching hat and a corsage bouquet of pale pink carnations, and Mrs. Harper a frock in henna shade, and a black hat and a corsage bouquet of amber chrysanthemums.

After a honeymoon in Seattle, for which the bride left in a grey caracul coat over a navy blue frock, and a navy blue hat, Mr. and Mrs. Harper will reside in Victoria.

Among the wedding gifts was a case of flat silver from the staff of the general office of David Spencer, Ltd., where the bride had been employed.

L'Alliance Francaise

At the fortnightly meeting of L'Alliance Francaise, held at 1175 Fort Street, with Mrs. M. Little presiding, members were delighted to hear of a possible conference being given by the celebrated biographer, Andre Maurois, during the Winter season. It was reported that he will visit Vancouver and speak before L'Alliance there, and no time is being lost to secure a like privilege for Victoria. The meeting was devoted to reviewing the campaign of Napoleon in Italy. Those contributing to the interesting narrative were: Mrs. Patrick, Miss Geache, Mrs. T. B. Inglis, Miss Frewin, Miss Munier, Miss Dorothy Kennedy and Miss Garrett, with an interesting extract from "Notre Belle France." A picture was presented of the various generals of this epoch, and a brilliant review of the character and influence of Josephine by Madame Vivinet, who brought the afternoon to a close. L'Alliance will meet again at 3 o'clock on December 9.

Is she upset about her broken engagement?

"Completely unamused!"

Rain-Soaked Hunters Find Welcome Stove But Dangerous Oven

Contents Start to Smoulder as Temperature Rises While Clothes Drying in Miner's Cabin—Hurry Departure and Delay Return

PORT ALBERNI, Nov. 27.—During the week-end a party of three from Vancouver visited the district intent on securing some game. They decided to hunt in the China Creek district, but the late Sunday afternoon found them without any deer and drenched to the skin, for the rain had fallen heavily all day.

Coming to a miner's cabin, they decided to spend the night there, the miner being absent. Soon a blazing fire was roaring in the stove, and the two men lost no time in removing their clothes and hanging them up to dry while they sat around in their underwear listening to the wind and heavy rain.

SOMETHING BURNING
Presently they smelled wood burning in the oven and one of them opened it. He stood staring into the oven. He turned pale. His friends crept over and looked in.

In the oven was a box of dynamite and the residue in which the sticks were packed was smoking. Beside it was a box of caps just starting to smoulder. Evidently the miner had left the powder in the oven to keep dry.

A LONG JUMP
The doorway was only five feet from the stove but one described it as appearing to be twenty miles. Would they reach the door before the explosion took place? This was the only thought that entered their minds. No mouse ever moved more gently nor lightning faster than the terrified hunters.

Out of the door safely and down the dark trail as fast as they could travel they went, clad only in their underwear with the rain coming down in torrents.

WENT INTO HUBBLE
They spent the next several hours huddled under a fir tree; later they crept back to the cabin, took their clothes outside, dressed and waited for daylight. Their hunting trip was over.

LOST HIS ROLL IN EARLY MORNING FIGHT

VANCOUVER, Nov. 27.—Vancouver police are seeking witnesses of an early morning brawl in an attempt to recover $800, allegedly lost by J. O. Peers.

Peers reported he engaged in a fight with three men and claimed to have missed the money when a spectator handed him his coat after the fight was over. The money, he said, had been in the pocket of his coat, wrapped in a newspaper.

PICTURES SHOW HISTORY OF B.C.

Exceptional Story of Growth Of Province Depicted in Home Gas Movies

Depicting the romantic development of British Columbia from its primeval state to the present day, a colorful review of British Columbia's history was depicted in motion picture films shown by the Home Oil Distributors to a large number of invited guests at the Empress Hotel last night. The historic scenes were taken from the records contained in the Provincial Archives, and these were contrasted with views taken from similar locations of the present day.

The story of the transition of communities from the state of wilderness to existing modernized cities, towns and villages was entertainingly related. The growth of Victoria from a fur trading post of the Hudson's Bay Company, through the excitement of the gold rush of 1858, to the beautiful city of the present; Duncan's development; Nanaimo's romantic story; Alberni's emergence from a wild state to its present activity, and the growth of settlement and industry about Courtenay, formed a dramatic picture of Island advancement. Scenic views of the Malahat, Cowichan District and other Island localities were charming.

GOLD RUSH DAYS
Similarly the Mainland was revealed in its various changes from the time of the gold stampede on the Fraser to the present. Scenes along the old Cariboo Road with ox teams and camels formed an amazing contrast with the swiftly-moving traffic of today. Vancouver's amazing expansion from the time that Jack Morton purchased his homestead into the great seaport of today with its towering buildings was dramatic in the extreme.

In addition to the historic pictures, a series of scenes in color throughout the province were shown. These splendid revelations of the beauty of British Columbia accentuated the fact that residents of the province do not have to go elsewhere to discover the beautiful.

Branch of Legion Meets at Sooke

SOOKE, Nov. 27.—The Sooke Branch of the Canadian Legion held a special meeting in the Community Hall here, P. W. deP. Taylor presided. The Legion sponsored a dance on Monday, November 18, in aid of Mr. and Mrs. Bradley and their three children, of Otter Point, whose home was totally destroyed by fire on Armistice morning, while Mr. Bradley was attending the service in Victoria. The sum of $98, which included cash donations, was raised. The usual New Year Eve frolic and dance will be held this year under the auspices of the Legion, in the Community Hall.

LIBERALS ELECT THEIR OFFICERS

GANGES, Nov. 27.—The general annual meetings of the Liberal and Young Liberal Associations of Salt-spring Island took place on Monday evening in the Mahon Hall, Ganges. Preceding the meeting the hall was the scene of a banquet at which over a hundred guests sat down. W. M. Moutat was chairman for the evening, and the guests of honor were Hon. Frank MacPherson, Minister of Public Works; Alex. MacDonald, member for the Island constituency, and Alan Chambers.

Following the banquet the Young Liberals first held their meeting, the president, Colin Moutat, in the chair. The minutes of the last meeting and financial statement were read and adopted. The president gave a resume of the year's work, and congratulated the executive on the amount they had accomplished during their period in office.

The following were elected for the year 1936: Hon. president, Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King; president, Colin Moutat; vice-president, Wilfred Huiatt; secretary-treasurer, Cyril Wagg; executive, Aylmer Beddis and Ted Borradale.

Those elected for the Senior Liberal Association were as follows: Hon. president, Alex. MacDonald, M.P.P.; president, W. M. Moutat; vice-president, N. J. Hepburn; secretary-treasurer, R. J. Hepburn. The executive, decided by ballot, included E. Parsons, M. Gyves, L. Beddis, W. I. McAfee, Tom Isherwood, George St. Denis, H. Nichols, W. J. Page and L. Reynolds.

ROADS AND BRIDGES
Speeches were delivered during the evening by Hon. F. MacPherson and Alex. MacDonald, M.P.P. The former dealt principally with statistics and spoke on the miles of roads and bridges which were taken care of by the Government.

Alan Cameron also gave an interesting address. In the course of his remarks he stated that a new wharf and flat were to be constructed at Vesuvius Bay and, with a similar wharf to be erected at Crofton, Vancouver Island, it would afford greater facilities for crossing and saving much time and mileage in reaching the larger island. The Ganges wharf is also to be enlarged, he said, and work done on the bridges.

The banquet had been under the management of Mr. and Mrs. F. Faux, and a hearty vote of thanks was proposed by Colin Moutat to the ladies who helped in serving the supper. Mrs. St. Denis, Mrs. Joe Ackerman, Jr., Mrs. Aylmer Beddis, Miss Betty Kingsbury and Shirley Wilson.

YOUNG ACTORS SCORE SUCCESS

"Here Comes Charlie," Presented by St. John's Y.P. Dramatic Club

Members of St. John's A.Y.P.A. Dramatic Club last night scored a hit with their presentation of the three-act comedy "Here Comes Charlie." Directed by Mrs. Ruth Vallant, the production was well staged and a capacity audience was entertained.

The plot, briefly, relates a story of how Larry Elliot, wealthy young broker, suddenly finds himself guardian of a seventeen-year-old girl from the Ozark Mountains. The attempts of his aunt, Mrs. Farnham, and his fiancée, Vivian Smythe-Kersey, to separate Charlie—the girl—from Elliot by a trick fails.

Charlie is sent away with her hill-billy uncle, Alec Twigg, and Elliot, formerly "henpecked" by his aunt, becomes master of his own home. The transformation of the girl into a beautiful, cultured young lady, and the aunt from a mean and vicious old woman into a lovely, sweet creature, are clearly illustrated in the final act. Of course, Charlie and Elliot fall in love and are married.

CAST WELL CHOSEN
The entire cast was well chosen. Iris Smith, as Nora Malone, revealed intelligent handling of a difficult Irish maid-servant role with good Irish dialect. Kathleen Smith, as Mrs. Farnham, the aunt, offered a stellar performance in a convincing manner. Jack Laver, as Larry Elliot, was a good lover and a smart guardian. Clarendia Jeeves and Sylvia Schofield, as the two socially prominent but penniless Smythe-Kerseys, were well cast. Mortimer Smythe-Kersey was portrayed by Stanley Cooper.

Honors for acting also go to Noreen Creelman and John Hooper, as Charlie and Ted Hartley. Both turned in good performances. Tim McGrill, a policeman, was played by William Creelman.

PROBLEMS CAN ALL BE SOLVED
Canada had much to be thankful for, and there existed the feeling that the country now entered a new era of promise and hope.

Of course, Charlie and Elliot fall in love and are married.

CAST WELL CHOSEN
The entire cast was well chosen. Iris Smith, as Nora Malone, revealed intelligent handling of a difficult Irish maid-servant role with good Irish dialect. Kathleen Smith, as Mrs. Farnham, the aunt, offered a stellar performance in a convincing manner. Jack Laver, as Larry Elliot, was a good lover and a smart guardian. Clarendia Jeeves and Sylvia Schofield, as the two socially prominent but penniless Smythe-Kerseys, were well cast. Mortimer Smythe-Kersey was portrayed by Stanley Cooper.

Honors for acting also go to Noreen Creelman and John Hooper, as Charlie and Ted Hartley. Both turned in good performances. Tim McGrill, a policeman, was played by William Creelman.

CHAPTER XVI

Flushed with compliments of her fellow actors, "props," old Pop Keel-in and the enthusiastic reception of Buelah, her maid, Carol opened the door of her dressing-room to find Manfred Morris waiting for her.

"Was it... was it all right?" she asked. This was her first meeting with him since that day two months ago when he had sent her for the job yet she could think of only these words to say.

"Very nice." That was all he lit the eternal cigar and sat down. "Like the theatre any better?" "It's very exciting," she said. "I suppose now you'll engage a real actress to take over this role?"

"No," he said with an inflection. "We'll give you a few dramatic lessons and see if we can't make a real actress out of you."

"That's very kind of you," was all she could manage to say. She felt that she should have said much more but nothing more occurred to her.

"Well," he picked up his hat and waited but when Carol said nothing—"Good night. Keep up the good work. By the way, the flowers are for you."

"Thank you, Mr. Morris," she said finally. "Thank you for all you've done for me. I appreciate it from the bottom of my heart."

"Do you? We shall see!" He left then.

"Now that you're practically a star," Isobel told her on the phone a few days later, "surely you're not going to high-hat your old friends."

Let's have a long tea and talkfest this afternoon. We'll go over to the River House and watch the boats and talk until time for you to go to the theatre."

Carol was supposed to pose for some fashion pictures that afternoon. Kaufman, her dramatic coach, was expecting her at four. She wanted to buy some wool to knit a bathing suit. She wanted to do things but when she talked to Isobel, she realized that more than anything she wanted to get as far away from Broadway as she possibly could. She wanted to talk to Isobel about college and green lawns and she wanted leopards instead of cocktail glasses.

It was an early July afternoon, hot and sultry. Carol cool-looking green sheer frock clung to her hotly. "Why don't you take a cruise, Isobel?" she asked. "Now that you've closed the office."

"I will if you'll go with me, darling."

"You know I can't do that. Mr. Morris has been so wonderful about it all. I can't walk out now. But later, perhaps. The show is closing in August and is going on the road in the fall."

"Are you really crazy about it?" Isobel asked.

Carol thought a long while before she answered.

"I don't know. I've tried to think it out. I don't have that all-consuming love of the theatre I've read about at all. The scents and sounds, the whole atmosphere do not fill me up the way it seems to affect the other girls I've met but yet—"

"Oh, I guess I like the excitement."

"But you are having a good time?" "Not particularly," Carol twirled the mint in her foot tea. "But I am busy and I've met dozens of people. For the first time in my life I'm invited out to parties. But parties aren't at all as I thought they would be. No one seems to know anyone else. The whole point seems to be to drink as much as possible and I never have more than one cocktail."

"No, I can see where that wouldn't mean anything to you. What about the men?"

"I don't like them either, Isobel, and I think the trouble must be with me. They send me flowers, take me to grand dinners... oh, all that sort of thing... but they're well, I haven't met any that could mean anything to me; not that it matters."

"But it does matter terribly, my dear." Isobel crushed out her cigarette.

arrette. "Your chief trouble is loneliness and it's that kind of loneliness that I can't help you with or can any number of people. You need someone to share your world with and the all this seeking will be over. Haven't you ever met anyone like that?"

"No-o-o." Isobel knew from Carol's voice that there was someone but if the other girl didn't want to talk about it, Isobel would not force a confidence.

"How are you and Morris getting on? I hear you were at the Mayfair club with him one night."

Carol smiled. Oh, he's sweet. I can't understand him. He does so much for me. You know he engaged Kaufman for me and he does any number of nice things."

"Any naughty ones?" Isobel asked with a half smile.

"Why, no. Why should he?" Carol asked innocently.

"Carol when I talk to you, I feel like a wicked old woman but it's just about time someone taught you a few of the facts of life. Of course, I may be wrong but when a theatrical producer who has to duck the most beautiful women in the world who throw themselves at his feet, seeks out a girl who never saw a stage from the rear view, gives her dancing lessons so that she can make the chorus, elevates her to a second lead, pays a tutor to teach her that business, I think he has a card up his sleeve. Or maybe I'm wrong; maybe he's got religion or there is a Santa Claus or something, but from all I've heard, I don't think I am."

Carol flushed. "I can take care of myself, Isobel. Sometimes I'm wondered about his interest myself but he never does anything that I could really—"

Isobel caught the inflection on the word "really" and she guessed more than Carol had told her.

Carol was supposed to pose for some fashion pictures that afternoon. Kaufman, her dramatic coach, was expecting her at four. She wanted to buy some wool to knit a bathing suit. She wanted to do lots of things but when she talked to Isobel, she realized that more than anything she wanted to get as far away from Broadway as she possibly could. She wanted to talk to Isobel, about college and green-lawns and she wanted teacups instead of cocktail glasses.

It was an early July afternoon, hot and sultry. Carol cool-looking green sheer frock clung to her hotly.

"Why don't you take a cruise, Isobel?" she asked. "Now that you've closed the office."

"I will if you'll go with me, darling."

"You know I can't do that. Mr. Morris has been so wonderful about it all. I can't walk out now. But later, perhaps. The show is closing in August and is going on the road in the fall."

"Are you really crazy about it?" Isobel asked.

Carol thought a long while before she answered.

"I don't know. I've tried to think it out. I don't have that all-consuming love of the theatre I've read about at all. The scents and sounds, the whole atmosphere do not fill me up the way it seems to affect the other girls I've met but yet . . . oh, I guess I like the excitement."

"But you are having a good time?"

"Not particularly." Carol twirled the mint in her hot tea. "But I am busy and I've met dozens of people. For the first time in my life I'm invited out to parties. But parties aren't at all as I thought they would be. No one seems to know anyone else. The whole point seems to be to drink as much as possible and I never have more than one cocktail."

"No, I can see where that wouldn't mean anything to you. What about the men?"

"I don't like them either, Isobel, and I think the trouble must be with me. They send me flowers, take me to grand dinners . . . oh, all that sort of thing . . . but they're . . . well, I haven't met any that could mean anything to me; not that it matters."

"But it does matter terribly, my dear," Isobel crushed out her cigarette.

Plume Shop Is Standard For Styles in Victoria

The Policy of Service Adopted at the Commencement of Business Remains Unchanged in Twenty-Three Years in City

After twenty-three years of growth and expansion, the Plume Shop, 747 Yates Street, is accepted as a standard in Victoria for style, quality and value in ladies' ready-to-wear. Under the direction of H.
Malakoff, the establishment has graduated from a humble beginning in a small store on Fort Street, in 1913, to the big double-entrance premises at the present location.

Originally the name was the South African Plume Shop, the title derived from the daring plumes then in vogue and which formed a dominant part of the stock carried.
With the change of fashions this line was dropped and the business evolved into one which handles all types of women's coats, frocks, dresses, suits and millinery.

The policy of service and quality, which was adopted at the foundation of the business, remains unchanged. In order to secure the latest designs and modes, Mr. Mala-koff makes periodical trips to the Eastern provinces and the United States. The services of a resident buyer are retained in New York.

Mr. Malakoff was one of the first merchants in the city to introduce the "bargain basement" department.
Today sees the opening of a store-wide sale event at the Plume Shop of a magnitude unequalled in the history of the store and every article in the big stock will be marked down.

What Today Means

"SAGITTARIUS"

If November 28 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:15 a.m. to 12:15 p.m. from 3:15 to 5:15 p.m. and from 7:15 to 9:15 p.m. The danger periods are from 8:15 to 10:15 a.m.,
from 5:15 to 7:15 p.m. and from 9:15 to 11:15 p.m.

As "We spend our years as a tale that is told," on this Thanksgiving Day you should recall the many blessings you have had during the past year. Forget any disappointments suffered. Everyone has something to be grateful for. Personal department will make this either a most enjoyable or very miserable day.
Your mental reactions will be reflected, most likely, in your behavior.
Straight thinking, combined with cheerful thoughts, is important, if you wish to be happy this day.
Married and engaged couples, and those who have found a companion in the search of happiness, should embrace the opportunity this day gives, to display in some practical manner their gratitude for the love and devotion which has been bestowed on them.

If a woman and November 28 is your birthday, you require peaceful and beautiful surroundings to develop your talents to the fullest degree. You are super-sensitive to environment. As you may find it will affect your attitude towards life in general, it will pay to give your living conditions the most serious consideration. You are apt to have a wonderful opportunity to demonstrate some latent talent. Do not, however, wait for it to come for you.
Seek it, and keep searching until you find it. Money may come to you from an unexpected source. If you use it wisely it will prove a blessing, but it will be just the contrary if you lose sight of its intrinsic value. Educational or missionary work, journalism, art or selling probably will offer the best opportunities for earning a satisfactory livelihood. If good judgment is used in the selection of a mate, much happiness can be expected.

The child born on November 28 will most likely, when it reaches its majority, display a decidedly practical tweak, especially in deciding upon the career it wishes to follow. Foliteness possibly will be one of its outstanding characteristics.

If a man and November 28 is your natal day, you are probably the sort that will not tolerate anyone, except your wife, to impose on you.
Aggressive, and inclined to be outspoken, you will forge your way to the front, despite difficulties. Theology, law, chemistry, architecture, writing, manufacturing, painting or banking should have many attractive inducements to offer you.

CANADIAN SCOTTISH AT SHAWNIGAN HAVE ENJOYABLE SMOKER

SHAWNIGAN LAKE, Nov. 27.—
An enjoyable evening was spent at the S.L.A.A. Hall on Friday on the occasion of the annual smoker of "A" Company, Second Battalion Canadian Scottish. Guests from Duncan and Victoria, with officers from the First and Second Battalions, included Lieut.-Col. Walter Barty, Major E. Henderson, Major Stuart
Robertson, Mr. Stewart, Capt. R.
G. L. Parker, Capt. C. French,
Capt. J. Adams, A. H. Plows, Rev.
A. Bischoffberger, and from the Second Canadian Field Battery, Battery S.M. Thorpe, with Sergeants platoon was well represented. Chairman C.S.M. J. C. Rathbone had arranged an interesting programme of songs and recitations, which was capped by the showing of motion pictures of the various activities of the First and Second Battalions during the past two years, by Major Robertson and Mr. Stewart.

Also in CastRemember the brat in "Bright told tales on Shirley Temple, tried to run her down with a doll carriage and proved herself a complete annoyance?She is Jane Withers, a chubby, independent little girl of nine, about so high, with dark brown hair and blue-grey eyes, who has proven herself another one of Fox Film's sensational discoveries.Jane's latest picture, "Ginger," which comes today to the Playhouse Theatre, has been proclaimed by New York and Hollywood as a great beginning for what looks like a great career.With Jane Withers and Jackie Searl, "Ginger" boasts the world's champion small girl and boy heavies of the screen. There's a clash with a world of comedy when these youngsters get together, but they're heavier in this picture.When Jane, the little, independent, self-reliant product of Ninth

Jackie Searl, trouble and lots of gagement of Norma Shearer's distinguished film appearance in "Smilin' Through," brought back to the Dominion Theatre in response to a large demand upon the part of the public, proves this sentimental and lovely photoplay a production which can be enjoyed not only once, but many times. The combination of Miss Shearer, Fredric March and Leslie Howard, three of the topmost names in the film industry, is guarantee enough of the brilliant acting which "Smilin' Through" holds.CAPITOL Jack Benny paid a THEATRE wage during the filming of his latest starring comedy-drama, "It's in the Air," now at the Capitol Theatre.

It was a bet that he made fifteen years ago that at that time he was doing a single in vaudeville and he played in a theatre at which Harry Lee was the treasurer. Kiddingly they agreed that each was "just the type for pictures." They made a "gag" bet that the first one to enter pictures should fix it for the other to appear in the same picture. So Lee has a role in "It's in the Air."Columbia Offers Lively New Film
Death rides the clouds at a three-mile-a-minute clip in the Columbia mystery drama, "Death Flies East," which opens today at the Columbia Theatre. The film's action concerns a trans-continental plane which leaves from Los Angeles with a strange, motley passenger group, pauses at Tucson and lands at Dallas. While the passengers sleep, tragedy lurks in the skyways. During the night, one of the travelers dies—struck down by a monster.Was the guilty one the flat-footed detective? Was it the scientist?
The ex-convict? The Japanese?
The girl? The spy? These are the baffling questions which face the police authorities when the plane lands with its tragic cargo.Among the principals are Conrad Nagel, as a Washington agent;
Florence Rice, as the girl leaving California in violation of her parole; Raymond Walburn as a talkative insurance broker, and Irene Franklin, as Mrs. Madison, the deaf matron. The film is based on a story by Philip Wylie, adapted to the screen by Albert Demond and Fred Niblo, Jr., and directed by Phil Rosen.SHIRLEY TEMPLE NOW APPEARING IN DRAMAShirley Temple, the screen's most popular child star, will be shown at the Little Orpheum Theatre for three days, commencing today.
"Bright Eyes" is the name of this lovable drama, which is said to be one of Shirley's best. As a special feature, the management has booked
"Babes in the Woods," that clever color Silly Symphony.SATIRICAL COMEDY IS THEME OF OPERETTAIt is now over a quarter of a century since "The Chocolate Soldier" was first produced at the Lyric Theatre in London. Only once in all those years has it been seen in Victoria. Now it is coming for the second time when the Victoria Civic Opera Association presents it at the Royal Victoria Theatre on Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings, December 5, 6 and 7.Oscar Strauss wrote the music for this delightful light opera. The libretto was written by Rudolph Bernauer and Leopold Jacobson.
The plot was taken from George Bernard Shaw's satirical comedy,
"Arms and the Man." The English version was turned out by Stanislaus Strange. It is of interest to former London theatre-goers that the Lyric Theatre, at the time "The Chocolate Soldier" made its debut, was under the management of William Greet, and the operetta was presented by F. G. Whitney as usual in London. The programme stated the theatre "was licensed by the Lord Chamberlain."

LAUDS DANCERS' WORKAfter the performance of Canoso and de Aragon, Spanish dancers, in Vancouver, "R. J." the critic for The Province, wrote:
"Exhibiting the freshness and impulsiveness of youth with unusual ability in picturing one of the most fascinating of the rhythmic arts, Jose Canoso and Tonia de Aragon, Spanish dancers, provoked high enthusiasm in a recital which is entitled to be recorded as belonging to the really worth-while attractions presented in these parts during recent years.""Here was another inspiring and uncommon experience," he reserved to introduce to this city for the first time the talents of two artists who are destined to occupy a prominent place in their particular field. Mr. Canoso and his bewitching partner provided stimulating entertainment from their initial number to the final curtain."These artists will appear in Victoria on Saturday at the Empire
Theatre.SAYS SECURITY
ANOTHER MATTEROTTAWA, Nov. 27 (P)—National security is not a matter with which the Tariff Board is concerned, Chairman George H. Sedgewick told Leo C. McCloskey, vice-president of the Imperial Oil Company, when the latter advanced an argument of that kind in support of the present tariff on gasoline.Mr. Sedgewick said there might be a great deal of merit in the argument but it was something for the Government and the Department of External Affairs to consider in the light of their knowledge of world conditions. The board was only concerned with whether a tariff was necessary or desirable to enable Canadian producers to compete against producers in other countries who had certain advantages.The oil company executive was on the stand nearly all day. He said if the tariff on gasoline were removed his company would be forced to close its refineries in Canada.

RHEUMATISM
Rheumatism is often caused by uric acid in the blood. Urea, a blood impurity, should be extracted by the kidneys. If kidneys fail, uric acid remains in the blood, and acid which in minute crystals lodges in joints or between muscles causing excruciating pains. Plan to prevent rheumatism by keeping your kidneys in good condition.

half a century the favorite kidney remedy. 101WILL OBSERVE ANNIVERSARYKirkham & Co., Ltd., Will Celebrate Twenty-Five Years of ServiceThe store of Kirkham & Company, Ltd., will present a busy sight today, for the doors open this morning on their twenty-fifth birthday anniversary. The event is marked by a store-wide sale, with samples given out and special values in every department, which will change each day for the next three days.Established in 1910, the firm has seen many vicissitudes and changes in the manner of merchandising since the far-off pre-war days. At-ways located on Fort Street, the founder took over the business known as Speed's Grocery on a site higher up the street than the present store. In 1915, the growth had been so rapid as to make a move imperative and the present store was taken over. A branch was opened in Duncan and other stores were started on the Mainland.In 1917, the People's Cash Grocery was founded as a cash and carry auxiliary to the main store, being operated as such until the interest was disposed of recently. It is said that this is the last grocery store to be operated in Canada.THE BATCHELOR GROUP In 1928, L. Batchelor acquired an interest in the firm, and the business became a member of the Batchelor group, enabling the management to purchase goods through the Batchelor Wholesale Warehouse, which advantage has been consistently passed on to the public. It is stressed that the firm, today, as in 1910, is a strictly local firm managed by Victoria interests and financed by Victoria capital.Today the active shareholders of the company are as follows: L.
Batchelor, T. Milburn, F. E. Anderson, H. A. Blakey and Thomas Lee.
Throughout the years, Kirkham & Company, Ltd., has maintained the highest standards of service to the public. In the old days deliveries were made by horse vans within a limited area; now the city is covered daily by fleet trucks, with special scheduled deliveries to outlying points.Mrs. Foy Said to Be Best Dressed
Woman in U.S.A.NEW YORK, Nov. 27 (AP)—Mrs.
Byron Foy, daughter of Walter P.
Chrysler, was called the best-dressed woman in the United States today by six leading New York designers.
In answer to the Paris dressmakers who listed "the world's best-dressed women," the American designers said, "Some of the Paris selections are frumps," and "submit-ted their own nominations. They included Mrs. Harrison Williams, who was dropped from the Paris list.
Others who won a place in their composite rating included: Mrs.
Howard Linn, of Chicago; Dorothy Hale (Mrs. Gardner Hale), society actress; Mrs. Henry Field, who flies her own airplane; Mrs. Allan Ryan, Jr., a New York blonde of the Ann Harding type; Mrs. John Hears, of the publisher's family; Mrs. William Gibbs McAdoo, Jr., daughter-in-law of Senator McAdoo; Lady Mendi, the former Elsie de Wolfe, whom the Paris couturiers called
"the best-dressed woman in the world," was granted to have a "certain chic," but was not included on any list.NATIONALISM IS CARRIED TOO FARR. W. J. Sippell, D.D., Urges
Members of Victoria West Forum
To Study World ProblemsThe world is driving towards destruction as far as humanity is concerned. The leaders, and those who should be leaders, are too intensely nationalistic and parochial, Rev.
W. J. Sippell, D.D., told members of Victoria West Forum at Victoria West United Church last evening.
Rev. W. R. Brown presided.Dr. Sippell explained that an international crisis was required to understand problems of today.
These problems were caused by misunderstanding, limited knowledge, selfish greed and self-interest, he said.He urged members of the audience to talk with educated persons of other races in order to get their points of view. They were also advised to listen to talks given by important visitors whenever possi-

Yours

(By James W. Barton, M.D.)

PAIN FROM RHEUMATISM
AFTER CAUSE IS REMOVEDWhile it is definitely known that the removal of infected teeth, tonsils, and gall bladder, and the correction of constipation will give relief, there are a number of cases where the symptoms "hang on," or where there are attacks of pain despite the removal of the infected parts and corrections of constipation.This is, of course, discouraging to the patient but the reasons for these attacks are now becoming more generally known. The first point to remember is that just as a factory that closes down still has goods on its shelves to be gradually disposed of, so also are the poisons from these infected parts (teeth, tonsils, gall bladder and large intestine) still in the blood, glands, and intestine itself, to be gradually removed over a period of weeks or even years. And until these poisons are removed or the body forces have overcome them, pain and aches will occur from time to time.
Further, there is often, perhaps always, some damage done to parts by rheumatism, and it takes very little dampness for instance—to cause a return of some of the symptoms.Thus we find patients, for many years after the removal of the cause of the infection, able to forecast the weather and tell as correctly as a barometer whether or not there is rain or fine weather ahead, because they have or have not some pain or aches in muscles or joints.Strange as it seems, there are also a number of patients, clear of rheumatic pains or aches most of the time who will have return of these aches or pains if they undergo any emotional disturbances such as fear, worry, anger, or other depressing emotion.There are others who find that certain foods—fish, eggs, meat, and others—can bring on these pains even in warm clear weather. They have skin tests made with certain suspected foods which cause large wheals (hives) if "positive." By leaving these foods out of their diet or eating them in very small quantities they are kept free of these rheumatic pains.

HUDSON'S BAY LIFT MIDWINTER SOCCER TROPHY

Canadian Press Announces 1935 All-Star Squad

Inter-Provincial Football Union Dominates Annual Selection of All-Eastern Grid Team—Bobby Coulter and Ormond Beach Only Two Outside of Big Four Circle to Be Placed

By ELMER DULMAGE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, Nov. 27.—Out of an unusually hot three-front gridiron scramble, which led to the same finalists as last year, after all, came the 1935 Canadian Press All-Eastern football team tonight with the old story that the Inter-Provincial Union packs the greatest players in the sector. Only two players outside the Big Four circle made the first team. Bobby Coulter, masterful little quarterback of University of Toronto's fine team, and massive Ormond Beach, Sarnia's 230-pound dynamite, got three-front gridiron recognition for the first time. The best that other college and O.R.P.U. stars could do was the second team.

Not in any of the previous three all-star Eastern teams did the selecting sports writers-coaches pick a defense of such quality and at the same time a first team with every element for diversified attacking. And never before did they find it necessary to discard so many outstanding performers in every position.

They put Ted Morris, Argonauts' "perfect player" and captain, at flying wing; Huk Welch, of Hamilton Tigers, and Abe Ellowitz, of Ottawa Roughriders, in the offensive half positions, and the mighty Beach at secondary defence half. It so happens that Morris, Ellowitz and Beach, in particular, are celebrated as defensive players.

On the second team's half line were Johnny Ferraro, of Hamilton; Hugh Stirling, of Sarnia; Imperials; Joe Connelly, U. of T. and burly Pat Ryan, of Montreal. This is a backfield that has tremendous ball-advancing powers in each department from the accurate-passing Ferraro to the fleet, pass-catching Connelly.

Kept off the All-Eastern slate were other smashing performers, notably Rocky Parascia, of Sarnia; John Munro and Harry Sonshine, of Queen's; Hugh Marks, of U. of T.; Herbie Westman, of McGill; and Stan O'Neil, of Ottawa. Parascia, whose comeback has been a feature of the Imperial drive towards another Canadian championship, is a leading candidate for honorable mention.

Only two out of twenty-six selectors in Montreal, Ottawa, Kingston, Toronto, Hamilton, London and Sarnia failed to place Ellowitz on the first team. Big Abe, brilliant leader of a moderately successful Roughriders team, came closer than any other player to being accorded a unanimous call. It marked his second consecutive selection.

Welch, whose great burst of scoring featured Hamilton's Big Four victory, was given twenty-one votes and Beach twenty. Only two others achieved twenty or more. Tommy Burns, of Argos, getting exactly that number for middle wing, and Wes Cutler, of Argos, polling twenty-two for outside. Both were outstanding stars of the sculler machine.

Demonstration on the books for Sarnia's Hugh (Bimmer) Stirling, one of the best punters and all-round halfbacks in the country. Stirling was on the first 1934 All-Eastern team and he is as great a player this year as ever. But he hasn't worked as hard, plunged as effectively, because he hasn't needed to.

INDIAN GIVEN SEMI-WINDUP SLOT ON CARD

Baptiste Paul to Meet 'Babe' Smallinsky Saturday at Tillikum Gym

Another newcomer will be paraded before the fans at the weekly squirm show Saturday evening at the Tillikum gymnasium in the personage of "Babe" Smallinsky, rugged pachyderm from Eastern mat circles. Smallinsky is coming here at the request of Promoter Fred Richardson, local impresario, and this should mean that the "Babe" knows something about this bone-bending business.

Baptiste Paul to Victoria fans, but Chief Thunderbird to followers of the mat game elsewhere, rugged Saanich Indian, who comes into the ring strapped in a blanket that has as many colors as Jacob's coat, will be tossed in against the "Babe." The boys are billed to travel for five eight-minute rounds in the semi-wind-up position on the heavy-weight grappling programme.

Heading this week's squirm card is "Rocky" Brooks, "strong man" of the mat game, and Bob Kruse, Oregon "Cabbage King," and a smart man in the bone-bending game. Kruse, master showman and another of the boys with the Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde complex, is good company for any of the leading heavyweights in the game today, and will be the one to give our "Rocky" Brooks an interesting evening. The passage will be rough, that is if the Oregonian still hands out the rough stuff as of yore, and there is no reason to believe he has changed.

With the two main bouts lined up, Promoter Fred Richardson is looking for a pair of good, lively boys for the four five-minute-round opener to complete his show. The first boxing will start at 8:45 o'clock and judging by the interest being displayed by the fans there will be a large crowd on hand to welcome Bob Kruse, who will be making his first appearance here in three years.

Victoria Motorcycle Club Stages Banquet

Annual Function and Presentation of Trophies Proves Big Success—Association Is Praised—Brian Tobin Tells of Lengthy Journey

At their annual banquet and presentation of trophies held during the year, members of the Victoria Motorcycle Club and their friends participated in an enjoyable evening at the S.O.E. Hall last night. The programme concluded with dancing.

Bill Espley, who made such a brilliant showing last year, was on hand to receive the greatest number of trophies. He claimed the Paul Girardau Cup, emblematic of first place in the club's closed hill climb event, accepted jointly with Reginald Shanks of the Brentwood Reliability Trial Trophy; was presented with a special cup for his all-round riding ability, and the third place award in the open hill climb event.

HILL CLIMB CUPS
Louis Kaellin, Seattle, winner of the first place trophy in the open hill climb event, was not present. He previously received the challenge cup for this event, and last night "Bob" Shanks was asked to carry a miniature trophy to him. Ray Douglas, Duncan, took second place in this event, and Bill Espley, third.

With many amusing anecdotes, Mr. Tobin told the gathering how he had ridden south to Los Angeles, thence to New Orleans, on to Florida, eventually arriving at New York without serious trouble. At the great American metropolis he boarded a freighter for Wales. Mr. Tobin spent several weeks in the South of London, then hoped to Europe, where he visited France, Switzerland, Germany and Belgium, all in three weeks. Returning to London he stayed in that great city for two weeks, before going again to Wales, where he took ship for Montreal.

PRIZE ASSOCIATION
From Montreal, Mr. Tobin went to Toronto and stayed the Winter Last Spring he returned to Victoria by way of Chicago, the Lincoln Highway, Salt Lake City and Vancouver.

"Bob" Shanks, in proposing a toast to the American Motorcycle Association, with which the local club is affiliated, paid high tribute to the organization and its efforts to protect and foster motorcycling throughout the United States and Canada. John Norrington replied briefly.

A toast to "The Ladies" was proposed by C. Davies, and answered by Mrs. "Bob" Shanks. Jack Raynsley made the address of welcome to the guests, which was replied to by William Dillabough.

Cecil Frampton, president, presided over the programme. Accordion selections were given by Ernie Fullerton and Jim Haggart, club members.

CAPTURES HAYWARD CUP BY BLANKING KRESGES TEAM, 4-0

Departmentals Take Possession of Silverware by Marking Up Eighth Successive Triumph in Wednesday League—Spencers Turn Back Navy, 3-0—Other Fixture Called Off

HOW THEY STAND	W.	L.	D.	P.	A.	Pts.
Hudson's Bay	8	1	0	37	9	16
Spencers	5	3	0	27	12	10
Navy	4	4	0	13	11	8
Wanderers	4	4	0	15	16	8
Saanich Utd.	2	5	0	10	37	4

Blanking Kresges, 4-0, yesterday afternoon at the Heywood Avenue grounds, Coach Eddie Rutledge's well-balanced Hudson's Bay soccer eleven lifted the prized Hayward Cup for the second successive season. It marked the eighth straight victory for the green and gold sweated departmental store squad and enabled them to retain their six-point margin over the second-place Spencers' eleven, last season's champions.

Playing at the Royal Athletic Park, Spencers came through with a 3-0 verdict over the Navy to gain undisputed occupation of the second berth in the cup race. With only two fixtures remaining to be played, the Diamond "S" boys would be unable to even tie the Bays in the trophy race.

The third fixture scheduled between Saanich United and the James Bay Wanderers, at Beacon Hill upper ground, was postponed because of the death of Fred Bourne's father. Bourne is a member of the James Bay eleven.

BAYS BLANK KRESGES
Gaining a 1-0 lead as the teams reached the half and driving home three additional markers in the final half, Hudson's Bay, always the better team, blanked a fighting Kresges' eleven, 4-0, at the Heywood Avenue grounds.

Hudson's Bay played the better football throughout the ninety minutes, and their short and accurate passing game was more than their opponents could cope with. Kresges, on the other hand, played the kick and rush style of game, and their forwards failed to click, except for the last few minutes of the final half.

Fifteen minutes after the start of the match the green and gold sweated lads garnered their only marker of this stanza when Jack O'Neil scored with a knee-high shot in the corner of the net. "Red" McMillan, guarding the sticks for Kresges, got his hands to the ball but could not stop the shot.

Many times during this half the plaudits of the fans as he made one spectacular score after another, and it was only his smart work that prevented the Bays from gaining a larger lead before the teams reached the breather.

STEVENS SCORES TWO
Early in the final half, Stevens widened the Hudson's Bay lead to 2-0 when he scored at close range after accepting a short pass from Jack O'Neil. The third marker of the game came from Stevens' head after Wally Stewart, flashy right winger, had sent in a splendid cross from the right lane. Stewart completed the scoring for the winners when he met the rebound from Robinson's shot and drove the ball into the net before McMillan had a chance to recover.

Kresges pepped up towards the end of the match and Baker, Hudson's Bay goalie, was forced to go at full-length to stop Archie McBride's low drive for the corner of the goal. Minutes later, Baxter was lucky to recover and punch clear a nice drive from Hall, Kresges' center.

Will Quit Tennis For Fight Game

LESTER STOEVEN

"If I can hit a man as hard as I can hit a ball, I think I'll quit tennis and go in for boxing," Lester Stoeven, a former Davis Cup tennis player from California, stated, as he announced he would hang up his tennis racket next year and enter the prize-fighting game as a heavyweight. Stoeven is six feet four inches tall and weighs 165 pounds.

tre forward. Just prior to the final whistle Williams, Hudson's Bay halfback, booted the ball towards his own goal in endeavoring to clear, but Baxter was on this job and cleared with little or no effort. McMillan refereed, and the teams

Hudson's Bay—Baxter, O'Connell, Wyatt, Williamson, McConnell, Oakman, Stewart, Robinson, O'Neil, Stevens and Holmes.

Kresges—McMillan, Jack, Coates, McKennie, M. McBride, Ferguson, White, A. McBride, Hall, McLellan and Cave.

SPENCERS IN VICTORY

Turning in a more aggressive brand of soccer than the opposition, Spencers led into second position by whitewashing the Navy at the enclosure. It was far from good football. A heavy ball and slippery ground made mis-kicking frequent by both sides, and the result was a game devoid of any thrills which could stir up the fans' enthusiasm.

Although unable to score, the sailors did their share of attacking and it was only the fine defensive work of Cann and Munroe, store full-backs, and the occasional breaking-up tactics of the half line, which kept the blue-jackets from garnering a few goals. In the early minutes, Marr and Robinson tested Stewart with two hard drives, but the goalie was on the job and made fine stops.

After twenty minutes, Spencers took the lead when Clyde Nicol came in from his wing with the half, tricked Dovey, Navy back, and beat Mundle with a high, fast shot to the far top corner. Three times after this goal, Spencers got in close enough but their shots carried poor elevation, each going feet over the bar.

The Navy were away on a nice forward movement about the thirty-five-minute mark when Watt hooked Art Chapman. From the foul, given near the storemen's penalty line, Spencers swept right to the Navy net, where Chapman got hold of a loose ball and caught the corner with a low curving shot which had Mundle well beaten. Spencers held this margin at the half.

HOLD BIG EDGE

Spencers held a distinct edge in the final canto but the brand of football never improved any. The sailors appeared miserably disorganized. The backs worked hard, while Hutton and Robinson continually fed the front line, which failed to click all afternoon. After twenty-five minutes, Bobby Brown, right-winger, took Nicol's pass in front of the goal and pushed in Spencer's third and final tally of the game. Not long after, Brown hit the crossbar with a fast one. The store eleven continued to press and over-ruled the sailors for the rest of the play.

Shrimpton refereed, and team follows:
Spencers—Stewartson, Munroe, Cann, L. Bradley, Chapman, D. Bradley, Brown, Mail, Clarke, Collins and Nicol.

Navy—Mundle, Dovey, Whyte, Watt, Robinson, Hutton, Hibbert, Bennellack, Marr, De Costa and Walker.

Remember When

(Twenty-Five Years Ago)

Rugby football has "caught on" in Victoria. All that is required to inspire enthusiasm among Victorians in any form of sport is to convince them that their players are in deadly earnest. Mix that with a measure of success and the public begins to take notice.

This is what the Victoria Rugby Club has done. They started last season when the Island team won all the championships within reach and there isn't a sportsman or sportswoman who wouldn't go the limit to oblige any one of the plucky boys who a fortnight ago defeated the cream of Vancouver's stalwarts here last Saturday and put up such a magnificent game at Brockton Point, Vancouver.

And the lads who are wearing the red and white deserve everything that comes to them. They have won for their city and club a reputation for putting up a spirited and clean class of football in the two matches played thus far this Winter, and there is an exceptionally long schedule to meet before the season's end, what with the remainder of the McKennie Cup series and the defence of the Keith mugs against California in a series of three local matches, they need the support of the citizens.

At a meeting of the association football members of the Victoria West Athletic Club held last evening, the situation arising out of the proposed formation of an Island Football League was discussed. The outcome was a decision to remain in the present Island organization, which includes the Up-land clubs. The Weis, therefore, will not come in contact with their old rivals, the North Wards, again after the completion of the local series.

CAREY TO BOX AT LADYSMITH

Local Battler to Headline Mixed Card at Up-Island Town Tomorrow

(Special to The Colonist)
LADYSMITH, Nov. 27.—With the class of Vancouver and Victoria boxers and wrestlers providing the opposition for the cream of the home-town talent, the Ladysmith Athletic Club will stage another of its popular mixed boxing and wrestling programmes on Friday evening in the Agricultural Hall.

Five boxing bouts and three wrestling matches, with the first mix scheduled to commence at 8:15 o'clock round out the attractive card arranged for the club by P. D. McInnis, local promoter.

Rex Carey, popular Victoria brawler and holder of the British Columbia middleweight championship, will share the spotlight position on the card with Brian Kennedy, hard-hitting Vancouver boxer. In the six-round main event at 150 pounds.

Lionel Williams, lightweight champion of Alberta, and now a resident of this city, will appear in the five-round semi-windup against Jack Nicholson, former British Columbia lightweight titleholder, while Peter Tassin, provincial flyweight champion, will swap punches with Bobby Parker, Victoria battler, in another five-round battle. Pete Crawford, former wearer of the provincial bantamweight crown, and Joey Brown, Mainland pugilist, will step five rounds at 118 pounds. The preliminary bout will bring together Ray Battle, Ladysmith, and Doug Leask, Victoria, in three rounds at eighty pounds.

Topping the wrestling portion of the card will be "Scotty" Marks, Vancouver veteran, and Al Garnet, rugged Victoria squirm, who will meet for six five-minute rounds at

George Sisler And a Group to Purchase Browns

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 27 (AP).—George Sisler, once considered the best first baseman in baseball, tonight confirmed reports he and a group of local business men and sportsmen planned to purchase St. Louis Browns.

Sisler, for a decade a leading big league hitter and for three years manager of the Browns, said the deal was in a "formative stage" but that there was "little doubt" it would go through.

BELIEVE IT OR NOT By Ripley

EXPLANATION FOR YESTERDAY'S RIPLEY CARTOON
The White King of the Zulus—John Dunn, born in 1839, White Chief of Zululand, is to be numbered among the most picturesque adventurers of Africa. He was a cattle driver at the age of fourteen. Before he came of age, he was elected one of the chieftains of Zululand. At the outbreak of the Zulu War, Dunn was the ruler of a large territory and the head of a considerable family. He acquired forty wives, buying them on the cattle exchange plan. These wives bore him a total of 120 children, of whom seventy-nine are living today. During the Zulu War (1879), Dunn, at the head of 2,000 warriors, joined the British against the Zulus. Out of gratitude, the British Government assigned a large territory to Dunn. Out of this territory every descendant of Dunn is entitled to 100 acres today. The Natal Government has recently confirmed this grant.

CHAMPIONS

Ross Hocking and Florence Oates in Straight-Set Wins

Former Defeats Marsh Gordon in Men's Singles And Latter Scores Victory Over Doreen Swayne —Hocking Retains Three Championships —Mrs. H. W. Dobbie Presents Prizes

Sweeping aside the final obstacles that lay in their paths, defending champions, yesterday evening, stroked their way to victory in the finals of the Victoria Garrison Badminton Club's annual championship tournament at the Bay Street Armories. In every section, last season's titleholders, retained their crowns.

From an individual standpoint, the performance of Ross "Bud" Hocking, local ace, was perhaps the most outstanding. Hocking retained his men's singles crown by defeating D. M. Gordon, veteran netter, in straight sets, 15-10 and 15-2, and then went on to share with his partners' victory in the mixed and men's doubles finals.

Miss Florence Oates took the women's singles crown for the second successive season, when she defeated Miss Doreen Swayne, finalist in last year's tournament, 15-10, 13-11. The champion found plenty of stiff opposition in her fight to retain her laurels but always seemed to have enough in reserve to eke out victory.

EASY VICTORY

Hocking's superior smash and shifty court play carried him through to an easy victory over Marsh Gordon, veteran Garrison player, in the men's singles final. Hocking took the first set, 15-10, and really displayed his championship form in the next set, when he stroked his way to a 15-2 victory.

Misses Florence Oates and Doreen Swayne, women's doubles champions, came from behind to defeat Mrs. Tomalin and Miss Helen Nicholson in the three-set final. The latter pair took the first set, 15-12, only to have their opponents come back and win the second set, 15-9, and square the match. In the final set, Mrs. Tomalin and Miss Nicholson were leading, 13-10, but did not have the punch to drive over the winning points. Misses Oates and Swayne rallied at this stage and finally came through with an 18-14 victory after a good match.

Playing well together, Ross V. Hocking and Marsh Gordon swept through to an easy victory in the final of the men's doubles, defeating Flett and Col. Chambers in straight sets. The scores were, 15-6, 15-4.

Miss H. Nicholson and Ross Hocking retained their mixed doubles title, but only after a keenly contested two-set fixture with Mrs. Tomalin and Marsh Gordon. With first one pair and then the other taking the lead, the score in the initial set reached 13-13. Miss Nicholson and Hocking, with service in hand, won the next two points and the set. In the final and deciding fixture, the defending champions stroked their way to a 15-11 victory. Hocking's smashes were again a big factor, while the steady play of Miss H. Nicholson, at the net, was also effective.

Misses K. Swayne and F. Oates won the women's handicap doubles, while the men's handicap doubles was won by Green and Flett. Miss Mitchell and Green won the mixed handicap doubles.

Mrs. H. W. Dobbie, wife of Major H. W. Dobbie, former president of the Victoria Garrison Badminton Club, presented the prizes. Russell Ker, popular vice-president of the club, introduced Mrs. Dobbie to the players and spectators.

LAKE HILL IN CAGE VICTORY

Defeat Hoyle-Brown in Feature Game, 32-25—Red Stacks and Kresges Win

Paced by Noel Morgan and Wellings, who garnered two dozen points between them, the former topping the list with fourteen, Lake Hill cagers gained revenge over Hoyle-Brown last night at the High School gymnasium, in the City Basketball League, by defeating the merchants in men's senior "B" division, 32-25. It was a close battle all the way, with the half-time score standing 17-14 in Lake Hill's favor. In the first game, Kresges beat out Burnetts in a women's tussle, 21-17, and then the Island Tug Red Stacks followed with a 44-29 victory over Hoyle-Brown in the intermediate "A" section.

Kresges doubled the score on Burnetts in the opening half, but had to do some close checking to hold their lead in the final session. Burnetts outscored the winners in the last canto, but fell short of tying the score by four points.

West's Lose Harry Storey; To Leave Eleven Saturday

WHEN the final whistle blows on Saturday afternoon at the Royal Athletic Park in the Milton Cup soccer final, Harry Storey, young right half-back, will have played his final game as a member of the Victoria West eleven. Storey, a bank employee, has been transferred to the Mainland, which means the breaking up of the Green-shirts' intermediate rank, rated as one of the best in the first division. On Monday, Roy Barnes, smart centre half, left for Ocean Falls. For several seasons, Storey has been a valuable member of Doc Poyntz' eleven, and along with Barnes, will be badly missed from the club.

LEADING SCORERS

Paul Thompson, Chicago's high-flying sniper, clings to the leadership of the National Hockey League Big Seven scoring race, by counting the lone Hawk goal against Montreal Maroons. He was hard pressed, however, by Toronto's Charlie Conacher, whose one assist against Boston Bruins left him only a single point behind the pacemaker.

The second horse in the daily double paid $163.50 to win, $84.60 to place, and $43.40 to show. It was the longest mutual payoff-off of the Maryland season.

Security Prices Turn Upward at New York Mart

NEW YORK, Nov. 27 (AP).—The stock market broke its two-day down trend today, as share prices moved forward under the leadership of the rails.

Gains ran from fractions to around 2 points in a number of active issues, with a fair number of industrials and specialties improving along with the carrier issues. In a few cases, advances were 4 to 5 points or more.

There were also indications of a gradual lightening of the strain on the French franc in international exchange, on the eve of the French Chamber's critical meeting Thursday. Fear of the franc's possible devaluation has been prominently mentioned recently among investors.

One of the more important dividend announcements of the day was the special $1 declaration of the nearly wholly-owned subsidiary of Anaconda Copper, Greene Cananea Copper Company, which meant an additional income of some $500,000 to the parent concern.

At the same time the annual rate of Greene Cananea was boosted to $3 from $2, which indicates an additional half-million dollars taken on a yearly basis.

The Associated Press average of sixty stocks advanced 5 of a point at 55.0, with the fifteen rail shares in the compilation up 1.0 to 29.5, the highest since July 19, 1934.

The bond market gathered fresh momentum on the upside, under strong support from the rails.

Baltimore-Ohio 6's were up 1 1/2 points at 83. Bonds of Brazil, Italy and Colombia were lower. French 7 1/2-2's were 33-8 higher at 172 1/2-3.

At Winnipeg—Outside

Markets Are Mixed

WINNIPEG, Nov. 27 (AP).—A buying order or two filtering into the trading pit in the late dealings, sufficed to hoist wheat prices fractionally on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today.

At the close of the quietest session of the week, values were 3-8 to 1-4 cent higher: November at 87, December 86-3-8, May 90-1-4 and July 90-1-2 cents.

Foreign demand for Canadian wheat was limited to odd-lot transactions, upon which no figure was placed.

Liverpool closed 1-4 higher, but this had no market effect here. Nor did late recessions at Chicago, where 3-8-cent losses were recorded. Cash and coarse grains did little.

by W. D. TIPTON
and J. H. MASON

THE delayed parachute jump, while appealing to the masses as an air circus stunt, is really a very important military manoeuvre. Pilots are more valuable than their fighting craft and without doubt, in the next war, fighting airmen will not consider their job more than half done when they see their adversary leap to safety, via parachute, from his burning craft. Unsportsmanlike as it seems, they will be ordered to shoot the helpless pilot swinging beneath his silk umbrella.

By making a delayed jump, the defeated pilot may escape for he will be very hard to find, falling chute and a normal landing may be made.

parachute to indicate his position. In these long falls, pilots sometimes topple head over heels or find themselves spinning violently. They tend to lose consciousness and open their chutes immediately this happens.

With a small pilot chute, the delayed jump could be made in an upright position from any height without any ill effects. When the jumper gets close to the ground, a second pull on his rip cord or on a separate rip cord, would permit the pilot chute to pull out the main chute and a normal landing may be made.

"Blab" meaning to talk (or tattle) trifles or secrets unnecessarily, thoughtlessly or indiscreetly is neither slang, colloquialism nor Americanism.

It is, in fact, not only good, old-fashioned English, but pretty good Danish, German and last, but far from least, Gaelic—compare the Old English blabben, the Danish blabre, the German blappern, and the Gaelic blabaran, for a stammer, indicating that the word is probably of imitative origin.

"Blab" has been used by many of our leading classicists, including, among others, Chaucer, Milton, Bacon, Shakespeare, Dryden and Tennyson.

NEW REGULATIONS TO FOSTER DRILLING IN ALBERTA OIL FIELDS

EDMONTON, Nov. 27 (C).—Promotion of new drilling for oil and gas in Alberta will be encouraged by rebate of a part of the royalties, it was announced by Premier Abernethy today.

An order-in-council being prepared now, it was said, will provide that "where, in the opinion of the minister, any well has made a discovery of oil that proves a previously unproved area to be an oil field, he may rebate royalties payable to the Crown from the products from that well, in such amounts and to such extent as he may deem advisable."

This order-in-council, it was predicted, will be passed by the Cabinet within the next few days, effective at once.

DUMPS GIVE PAYING WORK

Ladysmith Workers Get High-Grade Fuel in Return
For Labor

LADYSMITH, Nov. 27.—A new local industry, employing about ten, twenty or thirty men, according to the state of the weather, has commenced operations here. There are no smokestacks, no regular hours, no union rules and no bosses, and every day is pay-day.

The black ghosts of the old abandoned mines at Ladysmith are being turned over again on the grass-grown rock and shale dumps at Ladysmith, and the fuel bins of many of the relief workers are piling high with good-grade coal salvaged from the refuse dumped thirty years ago.

MILES OF SIDINGS

Considerable landscape work was performed by the collieries company during those early days, when miles of bunker, washery, storage and switching sidings were cut and built around the big wharf, which served the large vessels from all the seven seas. For the fill-ins and the elevated sidings, mine refuse was brought down from the mines at Ladysmith, eleven miles away, and dumped where required. A varying percentage of this material was coal, for coal during those days was only a trifle in a local world that evolved around so much of it, when a thousand tons daily poured down the chutes into the ships and scows.

The dumps gradually became a recognized feature of the new landscape, and of recent years nature had clothed the unsightly mounds with a precarious covering of grass and shrubbery. Since 1930, the fuel problem of the unemployed was easily solved in the surrounding forest growth, where windfalls and odd trees were plentiful, but now that resource has become more difficult of access and transportation costs higher. So prospecting started in the old shale dumps and within a few days the area has undergone another scenic transformation.

A MILLION TONS

The dimly familiar black shale has reappeared in scattered and confused heaps, and grimy figures are at work turning a million tons of material bottom up.

There is an apparent lack of system in the process of recovery and much haphazard digging all over the place. It is grueling labor and production averages four to five hundred pounds of coal during an eight-hour day for each man. Some of the fuel salvagers co-operate to obtain maximum results, but after a break of several days while they perform their official relief obligations, they return to discover that claim-jumping and stealthy piracy has destroyed their system, and the process must be started over again.

Results vary greatly. A man may strike a rich pocket netting him a sack of coal for every ton of material handled, while at other times he may move twenty tons of rubbish for the same results. Those on the job estimate that over a hundred tons of coal have already been recovered and there are still over a thousand tons of high-grade coal lying buried.

RENEWS APPEAL FOR DONATIONS

E. G. Snowden, City Relief Officer, Says There Is Urgent Need for Many Supplies

E. G. Snowden, city relief officer, yesterday again made a special appeal for support of the department's new bureau, which distributes supplementary relief in the form of clothing and other supplies to needy families.

A particular appeal was made for a baby buggy, a man's overcoat and cash donations to meet demands for repairs to thirty-four cook stoves.

There is a great lack of clothing, and donations of all descriptions would be deeply appreciated, Mr. Snowden said.

CAMP COOK IS KILLED BY TRAIN

DUNCAN, Nov. 27 (P.)—Daniel Haslam, forty, cook for the Export Logging Company, died in the hospital here today from injuries suffered last night when he was struck by a logging train as he was walking down the company's line. He apparently thought the train had passed and stepped back on the track.

John Haslam, of Duncan, is a brother. He was unmarried.

CULBERTSON on CONTRACT

By Ely Culbertson

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

KNOWING ONE'S LIMITATIONS

Expert players usually are aggressive bidders, and properly so. They have confidence in their ability to get "every ounce" out of the cards in the play. In the event of bad adverse distribution, the coups, squeezes, and psychological plays at their command assume enormous value. Hence, only a brilliant card player can afford to land in a precarious contract.

Conversely, it is a wise player who, realizing his own "only average ability" in the play of the dummy, is satisfied with safe contracts, leaving speculative slam bids to the experts and the club!

The bidding on the hand shown below was nothing if not ambitious. But the splendid play of the declarer justified the faith in him that his partner, judging from his bidding, must have had.

South, dealer.

Neither side vulnerable.

▲ J 9

▲ K

▲ A 7 3 2

WEST

▲ 10 8 4 3

▲ A 10 5 2

▲ 9 5 3

▲ Q J 10

SOUTH

▲ K Q 8 7 4 3

▲ A J 10 6

▲ K 9 5

The bidding:
South West North East
1♥ Pass 3♦ Pass
2♥ Pass 1♠ Pass
4♥ Pass 6♥ DbL
Pass Pass Rdbl. (final bid)
Opening lead, club six by West.
East's double of the slam bid was to say the least, unwise. He should have been well pleased with the situation and hopeful of defeating the contract, but certainly not sufficiently so to disclose his holding. Possibly the declarer would have used his same line of play had there been no double, but possibly not.

The opening club lead was won by North's ace. The ace of spades afforded a discard for South's losing club, and the spade queen was then led. East covered, South ruffed, and then cashed the club king. Now he led a diamond to dummy's king and cashed the spade jack, discarding a diamond from his own hand. Next a club was ruffed by South, and then a diamond by North, with the nine of trumps. Another club ruff shortened the declarer's trump suit to K Q 8, so that the situation stood:

▲ 7 5 2

▲ J

WEST

▲ 10

▲ 6

▲ Q 8

EAST

▲ 10 5 2

From this point the hand was a lay-down. The ace of diamonds was led and ruffed by dummy's jack, and East was helpless. If he over-ruffed he would have to lead into South's K Q 8 from his own 10 5 2, and if he under-ruffed, a spade would be led (as actually happened) and ruffed with declarer's eight. The ace of trumps was graciously conceded as the only trick to East-West.
